Attempt Made To Assassinate King Boris and Bride

ROYAL TRAIN IS FIRED ON NEAR DEPOT

Bulgarian Ruler and Queen Are Married For Second Time Within Week

GUARD IS INJURED

Outlaw Band Is Believed To Be Responsible For Attack Made On Train

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 31.—(UP)— King Boris III and his bride were wildly acclaimed by the capital today after an escape from a volley of bullets said to have been fired at the royal train near the ancient Macedonian city of Philippopolis.

The attack on the train, bearing the king and the former Princess Giovanna of Italy from the Black Sea to Sofia, was made by unidentified persons as it approached the station of Madole in the border of the region where Macedonian revolutionaries have been active.

A guard was wounded in the foot,
a guard's rifle stock was splintered
and bullets struck the train according to information here, but none of the royal party was injured. The train made a brief halt and proceeded to the capital where the king and queen were married again according to the eastern orthodox church rites.

The royal party included the king's sister, Princess Euxodia, and his brother, Prince Cyril, and high government officials.

Macedonian insurgents led by the notorious Ian Mihaloff, have been responsible for many acts of terrorism in Bulgaria and on the Greek and Yugoslav frontiers in their campaign for autonomy.

The outlaw bands, united as the Internal Macedonia revolutionary organization, live in mountainous strongholds from which they emerge for dashes into nearby towns in defiance of police and troops.

Recently the Bulgarian government has intensified its activities against the revolutionary bands.

Philippopolis, on the river Maritza, was founded by Philip of Macedonia and was once the capital of ancient Thrace.

The different religions of the bride and groom—former Princess Giovanna of Italy is a Roman Catholic—made the second ceremony necessary. They were married in a Roman Catholic service in Assisi Saturday.

The service was conducted by the metropolitan Neophyte. He pronounced the nuptial benediction,
including the orthodox marriage ceremony. The king and queen then exchanged rings.

A salute of 100 guns was fired at the conclusion of the ceremony.
Singing of a Te Deum for the royal family concluded the service, after which the king and queen kissed
the cross carried by the royal neophite.

OFFICER GUARDED

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—(UP)— Fearing further attacks, policemen today guarded the hospital room of Police Sergeant James Mc-Bride, who was wounded seriously when fired upon by gangsters as he rode a suburban street car.

Assistant State's Attorney Harry
S. Ditchbourne said he believed the gangsters who fired the shots sought to prevent McBride's testifying in the murder trial of William "Three-Fingered" Jack White.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Pola Negri Proceeds With Divorce

PARIS, Oct. 31.—(UP)— Pola Negri, screen star, was authorized by the French courts today to proceed with her suit for divorce from prince Serge Mdivani.

Miss Negri appeared in court prepared to undergo the obligatory and formal attempt at a judicial reconciliation but the prince failed to appear.

The court authorized Miss Negri to live on the Riviera pending a decision of the case, which is likely to come promptly, since the suit is not opposed.

DEATH TOLL IN EARTHQUAKE IS PLACED AT 13

Number of Injured Said to Be Several Hundred,
Many Serious

ROME, Oct. 31.—(UP)—Thirteen persons were killed in the earthquake which occurred
along the northern Adriatic coast
yesterday, according to official reports received here today.

The number of injured had not been determined definitely, but it was believed that it would total several hundred. There was considerable property damage.

Senigallia suffered most from the quake. Ten persons were killed there. Three were killed in Ancona. Twenty-three of Senigallia's 275 injured were reported in serious condition.

Hundreds of residences collapsed
or were badly damaged in the quake area. Loreto reported that 100 houses had been destroyed
there. The famous papal palace was reported slightly damaged.

Professor Agamennone, director of Rome's meteorological observatory, said that seismographs registered a quake of 20 minutes
duration, but that the movement could not have been noticed more than 30 seconds by human organs.

The quake was due to a movement of the earth's crust, he said, and was technically called a tectonic quake.

The fact that the epicenter was in the Adriatic sea and not on land prevented a major disaster,
officials of the observatory said.

FORMER DICTATOR, 30 FOLLOWERS HELD

ATHENS, Oct. 31.—(UP)—The arrest of Former Dictator Gen.
Theodoros Pangalos and 30 of his followers was believed to have checked what authorities called an attempt to overthrow the Greek government.

General Pangalos was arrested yesterday while Premier Eleutherios Venizelos was in Athens for the signing of accords of friendship and naval parity between Greece and Turkey. Officials said General Pangalos and his colleagues took advantage of the absence of the premier to push their plan for the overthrow of his government.

Ten men who had served as officers under Pangalos were the first arrested.

PARTY LEADERS IN TALKS OVER RADIO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(UP)—
The congressional campaign,
entering their final phases, struck a quickened pace today with speeches, statements and charges
coming from the contending parties in increasing number.

Added to the material issued by the Republican and Democratic national committees were statements by heads of the dry and wet movements.

The Republican radio campaign, carried on last night in a speech by Secretary of War Hurley, will be continued tonight with a speech by Sen. James Watson of Indiana, Republican floor leader.

PLANS ARE MADE TO IMPROVE BUSINESS IN ORANGE COUNTY

OKLAHOMA CITY IS THREATENED BY OIL BLAZE

Spouting Gusher Results
In All Auto Traffic In City Being Halted

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31.—
(UP)—A wild oil gusher, spouting mists of inflammable oil and gas, threatened this city's wholesale business district
today, stopped all traffic and imperiled lives.

All available city firemen and expert oil well workers were mustered in a battle to control the well which emitted thousands of barrels of oil and millions of cubic feet of gas.

The wild well is known as the No. 1 C. E. Stout gusher and is located not far from invaluable wholesale houses, manufacturing concerns and railroad property adjacent to the heart of downtown.

The entire wholesale district was reported by firemen as "in immediate danger."

Residents and property owners of the area were warned against kindling any form of fire.

Oil from the well was being carried into the heart of the business section by tow wind.

All forms of traffic including trains, automobiles and pedestrians, was barred from the endangered area while workers began a fight against the forces of nature.

The well spewed millions of cubic feet of gas fumes plainly noticeable in the downtown area.
Splashes of oil fell upon parked automobiles. Inflammable buildings were coated with an oil mist.

Authorities and oil well workers faced a life risking ordeal similar to their 10 day battle when the noted "Wild Mary" gusher ran wild at the city limits. Their wild was increasingly precarious today, however. The current uncontrolled gusher brought a fire menace unapproached before.

Should there be even a small fire in the area sprayed by oil an explosion and fire might result that would damage the greater wholesale and business section of the city.

Officials said that if the oil flow showed no decrease they would request the company supplying the city with gas to shut off all lines in the fire danger zone.

Roar of the oil rushing through the broken connections and forming billowy clouds above the business district could be heard for blocks.

The well was brought in late yesterday by the Morgan Petroleum company.

It cut through two master gates
after it was opened for production and flowed 350 barrels of oil in eight minutes. Sand cut all connections on the stand.

GOOD WILL FLIERS GUESTS AT BANQUET

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 31.
(UP)—More than 75 Los Angeles citizens, traveling in 49 airplanes, left here this morning for the San Joaquin valley leg of their second good will trip throughout California.

The visitors were guests of honor at a banquet, attended by 200 townspeople, at the Elks temple
last night.

Charles E. Wilkins, of Sacramento, chairman of the city airport commission, presided and introduced Arthur Goebel, winner of the Dole Pacific flight; Earl Ev-enington, first air mail pilot in the United States; Miss Margaret Perry, owner and operator of the Culver City airport and only woman pilot on the tour, and representatives of the large oil companies operating about one-third of the planes which landed here from Red Bluff yesterday afternoon.

Calvin
Coolidge
Says:

By CALVIN COOLIDGE

Former President of United States
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 31.—Our people own a very large supply of cotton, copper, wheat, petroleum and other raw materials. They have heavy deposits of money in the banks, and many billions invested in foreign countries.

Although we have been developing our country at a very rapid rate, erecting buildings, constructing highways, improving rivers and harbors, providing transportation by land, water and air, putting in great power systems, installing elaborate transmission lines for electricity, and laying down pipe lines for gas and oil, these great works are not finished but just begun. They cannot be considered completed until all our people have all these services that they care
to use.

That development has not ceased, but has only been retarded. The time cannot be far distant when the inherent demand of the people for improvement will appear. The creative genius and faith of the people of the United States will bring that demand and the present supply into conjunction.

The raw materials are at hand for an era of unprecedented prosperity. They only wait for the people to come forward to utilize them.

OPERATION ON CHILD MOTHER IS POSTPONED

DESPITE the glowing hopes with which little Mamie Henderson left a few weeks ago for Rochester, Minn., to receive the verdict of world-famous specialists on her badly crippled condition from a broken spine as the result of an automobile accident four years ago,
the trip was a fruitless one so far as any possibility of an immediate operation on the part of the famous Mayo clinic staff of surgeons, was concerned.

For the long train trip from Friday to Monday, was too much for the frail strength of the youthful mother, and even the careful treatment she received at the hospital and her enforced rest of many days,
failed to give her the strength

WINNERS IN PICTURE COLOR CONTEST ANNOUNCED TODAY; BLUEBIRD NEXT IN CONTEST

Mary Beth Newcom, 8 years old, who lives in West Orange, and Betty Lamberton, 10 years old, who lives in Costa Mesa are the prize winners this week, Mary Beth wins the prize for the younger artists and Betty Lamberton for the older artists. Betty Lamberton has sent in several colored pictures in several weeks and we are glad this week that she has won the prize. Ruth Melton, nine years old, of Garden Grove and Bill Hintges also had very nice drawings. But would you believe it, there were only two of the artists who remembered to put in the black marking on the Flicker which comes on the breast.

We met an adult the other day who wanted awfully to enter the contest but of course
she couldn't because she is grown up. Those who can submit drawings are specially favored. In the contest this week Betty Lee Mills, only four and a half, sent in a quite pretty picture, but of course she is at a disad-vantage when she competes

with those who are older.

This next week the bluebird is to be colored. You will all just love the picture. There are three Bluebirds, one perched on a limb who is quite proud and has very distinct colors. Then there are two others lower down in the picture and they are nestled close together just as dear and sweet and lovable as they can be. You will all just love to look at them as you work over the coloring. The coloring is a bit easier this week and after all the brown and grey and red we have had the blue will be nice to try your hand at.

Don't forget to look at the lovely color plates in the window of the Children's department of the public library, on Fifth street, in the window of Watkins Battery on the corner of Fourth and Sycamore, and in the front window of the Santa Ana Register. They are already in the windows so you can study them tomorrow.

WOMAN KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Mrs. Antonio Moreno Suffers Injuries Which Prove Fatal

STRUCK BY A CAR driven by Elvin Andes, of Pomona, as she was walking on East Commonwealth avenue near Acacia street, Fullerton, with her husband,
Mrs. Antonio Moreno, 73, of 210
East Ash street, Fullerton, suffered injuries which caused her death
last night. The accident happened at 9 o'clock.

With Andes in the car was Floyd Hamilton, also of Pomona. The men were not held but were instructed to be at the inquest at the McAulay and Suters parlors
this afternoon.

Mrs. Moreno was walking west and the Andes machine was traveling east toward Fullerton. The car passed over the woman after striking her.

An ambulance rushed the injured woman to the hospital but internal injuries caused her death
three hours later.

Funeral services for the woman
had not been completed at noon today. She had lived in the Fullerton district for some time.

YOUNG FLIER OFF FOR ARIZONA CITY

GUAYMON, Okla., Oct. 31.—Stanley Boynton, 18-year-old flier, took off from the municipal airport here early today, continuing his flight to Phoenix, Ariz., in quest of a junior transcontinental record.

He was forced down here late yesterday. He left Wichita, Kas., yesterday afternoon and after being forced down at Hooker, Okla., on account of lack of fuel, he made his way to this Panhandle
port before dark.

500 AT CONVENTION
SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 31.
(UP)—With nearly 500 insurance men present from all parts of the state, the main business sessions of the three-day convention were held here today.

The visitors were greeted by Governor C. C. Young and Mayor
C. H. S. Bidwell, while the chief speakers at the meetings last night were Percy H. Goodwin, San Diego, president of the National Association of Insurance Agents, and Glenn D. Willman, Los Angeles, secretary of the California Real Estate association.

First Steps Are Taken At Dinner Meet

Chamber of Commerce Heads and Newspapermen Attend Gathering

THE DINNER for chamber of commerce secretaries and newspapermen in the interest of improving business conditions in the county and keeping public thought directed toward spending money instead of hoarding it, was well attended last night at Ketaner's cafe, and developed a white sentiment for a campaign along these lines. Those in attendance selected a committee of three to map
out a definite program for adoption which is to include a request for use of county advertising funds in a county wide advertising campaign.

Many reasons for the present
slowing up of business in the county were expressed and several suggestions were offered as a remedy for the consideration of the executive committee, which is composed of William J. Tway, Santa Ana, chairman, Harry May and George McLeod. Tway is advertising and credit manager of the Santa Ana Lumber company and a former executive of the Santa Ana Business Men's association. May is the chamber of commerce executive at Fullerton and McLeod occupies a similar position for the Newport harbor district.

Smaller Crews
It was pointed out that while orange growers received a greater return for their crops this year than last, the short crop resulted in smaller crews of men working in the fields and packing houses and shorter periods of activity than usual.
V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Orange chamber of commerce acted as chairman at the dinner meeting.

Earl Ruddy, manager of the Santa Ana Business Men's association, declared that statistics show that prosperity is here in Orange county, but that what was needed
was for people to spend their money
and thus increase the flow of cash.

One of the most favored suggestions of the evening came from George Raymond, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.
Raymond stated that several large industries in the county were planning to increase confidence by assuring their employees of their jobs and that there would be no cuts in wages. "The buying power of the county is largely in the laboring groups," he declared, "and if they are assured of the stability of their jobs and income, the resultant sense of security means they would spend more freely. Then it would be well to create in the minds of the property owners the desirability of making improvements or repairs or decorating while costs are low. In any advertising we should attempt to create the thought and desire of keeping our 'white spot' white and making it whiter. Hard times are largely psychological.
Many great industries in the East
are now returning men to work on a part time basis to start the flow of money again."

ASA KEYES DENIES BRIBE CONFESSION

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Oct. 31.
(UP)—Asa Keyes publicly denied today rumors that he confessed to bribery in office.

"I have not confessed," said the former district attorney of Los Angeles county, "because there is nothing to confess. I have at no time while here even discussed my case. I could scarcely admit a guilt that I deny existed.

"I have noticed some printed reports stating I was convicted for accepting a bribe. That is incorrect. I was convicted of conspiracy to accept a bribe, a much easier conviction to secure.

"I feel as fit as any man could under these circumstances, and want to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to Warden Holohan for the consideration he has shown me."

Mrs. McPherson May Return By Nov. 27

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.
(UP)—Word was received here today from the White mountains that Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist,
plans to return from the east
by Thanksgiving.

Mrs. McPherson, recovering from an illness which followed a controversy with her mother, Minnie Kennedy, went to the White mountains to recuperate.

F. C. Winters, business manager of Angelus Temple, said that it may be several months before the evangelist recovers her strength to the extent that she will be able to undertake her religious work.

BRUSH FIRE RAGING OUT OF CONTROL

Malibu Mountain Resort In Path of Blaze, Cabins
And Clubhouse Doomed

500 FIGHTERS ARE OUT Estimate 45,000 Acres of Land Already Have Been Ruined By Blaze

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—(UP)—
L Roaring through the Malibu mountains in the teeth of a brisk wind, a brush fire today threatened to destroy the clubhouse and cabins of Seminole Hot Springs, a popular mountain resort.

According to reports at fire fighting headquarters, the flames were out of control and were sweeping eastward only three miles from the cluster of cabins and club.

Forest Fire Dispatcher W. H.
Welch said the fire had spread over a wide area. Wild winds in the many mountain canyons increased the hazard, he declared.

The blaze started in Ventura county although 500 men were recruited to fight it. About 30,000 acres were charred by the Malibu fire in Ventura county and approximately 15,000 acres were burned in Los Angeles county.

Fire wardens said they believed that fire lines might be effective in saving the Seminole resort but that the buildings on the nearby Decker ranch were given up for lost when the wall of flame hurdled a road with scarcely a pause.

It was impossible, they said,
to estimate the property loss in ranch buildings already destroyed;
in watersheds and pasture lands,
and in livestock which may have died.

Hundreds of deer and other wild animals have been routed from the mountains by the fire.

Reports from headquarters at Santa Paula were more optimistic
today as the Los Angeles county situation became serious.

The Montebello oil fields were saved after being banked by three solid walls of fire. Fire lines and back fires were used to sheer the blaze into a brush channel where the loss was not expected to be heavy.

Two men had a narrow escape from death in Ventura county
when the fire suddenly swooped
on the Triunfo lookout after destroying some small homes and other property in Sycamore canyon.

SACRAMENTO JAILS SEVEN COMMUNISTS

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 31.—
(UP)—Seven asserted members of the Communist party are in jail and the entire Sacramento police department was under orders today to wipe out all "Red" activities in the city as the result of attacks made last night on 26 employment agencies by unemployed men.

Armed with sawed-off shotguns,
machine guns and tear bombs, 20
policemen guarded the city hall last night after threats were made by Communist gangs that they were coming to release their comrades.

Those arrested were Mike Daniels, 30; Charles Bell, 23; James Black, 30; Thomas Ray, 27; William Malone, 37; Ernest Steinman, 24;
and Emmet Lashley, 27.

DR. VARGAS REMAINS AS BRAZIL LEADER

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 31.—
(UP)—Indications were strengthened today that Dr. Getulio Vargas will remain head of the provisional government until November 15, when he will be inaugurated president of Brazil.

Friends of the rebel leader believed he would allow the term of the deposed president, Washington Luis, to expire while Luis remained a prisoner in Copaca-bana fortress.

A majority of the Brazilian populace appeared strongly in favor of Dr. Vargas, and attempts at counter-revolution were not feared.

10 MEN HURT IN NEW YORK RODEO

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(UP)—
Ten performers at the Madison Square Garden rodeo were injured
last night, two seriously.

Pete Schwartz, of American Falls, Idaho, suffered a fractured skull when the steer he was wrestling dragged him across the arena and battered him against a concrete wall. Irvin Collins, of Miles City, Mont., received painful injuries when his mount, Whoopee, threw him over its head
and rolled over his body.

Eight other performers were injured, none seriously, in a mount-

necessary to endure so serious an operation at this time.

This will be disappointing news to the hundreds of Santa Ana and Orange county sympathizers who contributed so generously towards the expenses of the trip. For the surgeons of the clinic, who had been given a complete history of the case, had expressed the opinion that Mrs. Henderson could stand the operation at once. All the most famous specialists were in consultation on her case, and she received every form of assistance that this great hospital plant could offer, but the final decision was that any attempt to operate in her present frail condition, could have but one outcome, the death of Mrs. Henderson. She was advised to return home and adopt a building up process for the surgeon's general health before the operation should be attempted.

They have now reached the home of Mrs. Henderson's mother, Mrs. Mary Lewis, where constant medical and nursing care is being given and the nurse, with the object of fitting her for the future ordeal. The verdict of the specialists will be almost as disappointing to the hundreds of unknown friends whose gifts made the trip possible, as it was to Mrs. Henderson and her people. But nothing can take from the beauty of their unselfish gifts, and the knowledge that they offered her the chance that she needed. Nor will their gifts miscarry, for Mrs. Henderson is not discouraged, and is entering with cheerful spirit into the effort to rebuild her general physical condition in readiness for the time when she can endure the ordeal.

Those who gave so cheerfully to the fund, will like to know that when the specialists made their decision to have her come home for the care and treatment so that she might be saved the months of expensive hospital life, the first thought on the part of Mrs. Henderson and her mother and sister, was to return the hospital money to the various givers, that it might be applied to other crying needs of the community. "We are not yet ready for it," explained Miss Pearl Lewis, "and since it may be many months before my sister is ready for the operation, and we hope that my brother-in-law can leave much of her care to us and secure work, we feel that perhaps the money might be used for other sufferers rather than lie in the bank against the time Mammie will need it."

The Register felt that the idea was a wonderful one, as showing the heart-felt appreciation of this little family for the assistance given by unknown friends, but that everyone who sent a free-will offering would agree with those on The Register staff who gave freely but anonymously, that the money was for the use of Mrs. Henderson, and should be kept by her for needs as they arise. Do not the various unknown friends among our readers agree?

BERLIN—Once a year the burghmaster of Rottenburg, Bavaria, has task which, although pleasant, is a mighty undertaking. He is required to consume three and a half quarts of beer at one draught and without taking a breath. The occasion for the drink is one commemorating the saving of the city by a burgomaster 300 years ago who drank a like amount at the command of an invading general.

HALLOWE'EN TO BE CELEBRATED IN FOX HOUSES

Plans were complete today for the entertaining of hundreds of Santa Ana school children at the Fox West Coast theaters of Santa Ana tonight, when Manager Norman Sprowl will hold his first annual Halloween party for children of school age.

In order to co-operate with the police and fire departments of the city, in making this year's Halloween celebration happy and harmless, Sprowl is admitting for half price at either the Fox West Coast or the Fox Broadway theater, all children, who will sign a pledge stating that they will aid in making Halloween harmless and happy.

The pledge, which appears in another section of today's Register, when signed and presented at the box office of either theater, will entitle the bearer to a ticket for half price.

A special show is being given at the Fox West Coast theater tonight in the showing of "Big Money," latest Eddie Quillan all-talking picture. This will be shown in connection with the regular feature, "Reno," which closes its run at the theater tonight. "Big Money" will appeal to all of the young generation. It is filled with action and comedy.

At the Fox Broadway theater today is being shown "Billy The Kid," King Vidor's great 1930 picture. It starts a three-day run there today.

Pertinent Comment

Some very pertinent comment and interesting suggestions were contained in the remarks of W. K. Maxwell, publisher of the Fullerton News-Tribune, who commented on married women in business and industry, maintenance of interest rates by banks, and the oil importation problem.

"People have been fooled so often in statements concerning better business that they are skeptical when the truth of conditions is revealed. Our campaign must start with a confession and an admission and must be perfectly frank. There is a lot of distress among the unemployed.

"We have kept everyone in our place on the job, there has been no entrenchment. We have told them they would be kept and their salaries not cut. Many of our great government projects are employing foreign labor. There is one place where conditions might be helped. Another factor in the situation is the great employment in Southern California of married women. Husbands and wives in numerous instances are both working. In a crisis like this it simply means that the married woman is filling a job that could be used to support her family. Concerning oil imports, there should be an investigation concerning the necessity for a tariff and some move to cut out imports so domestic conditions could be improved."

Tway suggested the extension of liberal credits by material houses in repair and improvement projects and made an appeal for loosening up money. "Some folks are on the verge of desperation," he declared. "In same way employers should be shown that the situation depends on them. People are tickled to death to spend if they can get the money."

Sam Mulholland, president of the San Clemente chapter of commerce, commented on the fact that young men will not take hard work these days and that it is impossible to get them to work on jobs that are now being handled by Mexicans. He declared that 75 per cent of the present condition is in the minds of the people and referred to the hard times of the past.

Have Spent Money

The reason for the fact that Newport Beach was enjoying the greatest year in their lives was assigned to the fact that they have gone ahead spending money there, by George McLeod.

Suggestion that the present was a real bargain day when a dollar could be bought for 30 cents and the idea of spending money to make money was presented by A. E. Davis, of Fullerton. He also developed the idea of an unemployment survey to determine the facts of the situation and qualifications of those unemployed.

K. W. Maxwell, of the Fullerton News-Tribune, suggested an educational campaign to create new jobs, and to have municipal jobs handled by manual labor instead of machinery, declared at an added cost, which he declared had been a policy adopted by the Fullerton city council.

Others present at the meeting who spoke briefly were A. W. McBride, of the La Habra Star; J. P. Frederick of the Long Beach Press-Telegram; George Scherck, of the San Clemente Herald; J. H. Evans and Paul W. Neff of the Santa Ana Register; Frederick Sanford, secretary of the Orange County Builders Exchange; B. F. Chapman, of the Newport News; James Farquhar, of the Huntington Beach News; Harry May, secretary Fullerton chamber of commerce; D. P. Maynard, Fullerton News-Tribune; W. I. Turck, of the Newport canneries, and John McCoy, Orange News.

One touch of prosperity that was featured by the meeting was the turkey dinner that was served.

REPORT HELEN HUDSON FOUND IN CINCINNATI

Helen Hudson, 11-year-old school girl, who disappeared from the Jefferson school on October 17, in a mysterious manner, has been located with her mother and is now living in Cincinnati, O., according to information received by L. C. Rogers, chief of police, from Chief J. E. Kenning, of Indianapolis.

That the mother, who is estranged from her husband, kidnapped the child and took her back east via airplane was the theory of the police, for according to the letter received, the child and her mother were in the police station at Indianapolis on the morning of October 20.

At that time, a private detective brought the woman in with the child and asked that she be held for Santa Ana authorities. This was refused by the chief at Indianapolis on the grounds that no word had been received from Santa Ana police.

Chief Kenning reported that while the child was at the station she seemed to be in perfect harmony with her mother and that they left there a short time later for Cincinnati, where the mother lived.

Chief of Police Rogers said today that he had turned the matter over to the district attorney here for further investigation, but that he probably would be no criminal action taken against the mother. He said that the girl's father and grandmother, with whom she lived at 317 West Seventeenth street, seemed to be satisfied that the child be with the mother provided a home was made for her and she was happy.

Artist Is Fined $250 On Reckless Driving Charge

Charged with reckless driving, Alberto De Busi, of Los Angeles, an artist, was fined $250 before Judge J. F. Talbot in police court this morning. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

He was arrested at Fourth and Main streets yesterday morning by Officer A. T. Holmes, who said the man had been drinking when he attempted to drive his car across the intersection.

On failure to pay the fine, De Busi was returned to the county jail to serve one day for each $2 of the fine.

Pleads Not Guilty To Murder Charge

An information was filed in superior court today by the office of District Attorney Z. B. West charging M. Duarte with murder. Upon arraignment the prisoner entered a plea of not guilty and the case was set for trial on Nov. 18 by Judge James L. Allen, in whose court the matter was called.

Duarte, it is alleged caused the death of F. Orozco on October 5, when he wrecked a car in which Orozco was riding as a passenger. The accident happened near Huntington Beach. The case will be tried before a jury.

STUDENTS SAVED

PALO ALTO, Calif., Oct. 31.—(UP)—Because Charles Norris, prominent author, wanted a character in one of his books to die by a subtle poison, Marron Kendrick, Stanford student, is alive today. To gain information concerning poisons, Norris sought out Dr. Granville C. Wood of this city, who after research supplied him with facts concerning a little known but deadly poison. Dr. Wood, however, also learned the antidote and was thus able to save the life of Kendrick when the latter yesterday drank the same poison through a druggist's mistake in filling a prescription.

REV. HARDING SPEAKS BEFORE LEAGUE GROUP

The Law Enforcement league, an organization of men and women, which is taking an active part in politics before the election and will continue its organization after the election, held a meeting at the Huntington Beach city auditorium, last night. The Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Nazarene church of Santa Ana, was the speaker. William Adair, pioneer merchant, called the meeting to order and introduced the speaker.

The Rev. Mr. Harding stated that the league's candidates were Harry Westover for district attorney and Logan Jackson for sheriff.

He condemned Sam Collins, candidate for district attorney, for the use of Horace Head's name on letters of endorsement Collins is sending out. He said that Head had informed him that he had not authorized use of his name in this manner. He also condemned Sheriff Fernigan and said that Logan Jackson had informed him that he had not authorized use of his name in this manner. He said that the abuse heaped on him during the campaign was more than he could stand. He told of charges made against Jackson, as to his sobriety and character. The Rev. Harding said he had urged Jackson to continue the fight, which he was confident would be won.

The speaker criticized the Hearst newspapers for their stand in the state campaign. He urged the people to vote for the Democratic candidate for governor. Declaring he was a Republican by birthright, training and inclination, he said he proposed to be one of those voters who realized that the old political party whip was not a terror any more. He urged support of the Democratic candidate for governor, the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor.

At the close of his address Chairman Adair adjourned the meeting.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

It is related that when the modern telephone was emerging through the experimental process, the first responsive sound was a clatter or a scratch; it was a long time before conversations were possible.

Does it seem to you just now as though your only apprehension of God resembles the harsh, chilling scratch heard through the receiver?

Ah, keep listening! He would speak words of comfort and assurance to your heart of hearts. Ere long you shall be able to understand what He says and go bravely on.

LAUD JERNIGAN FOR ASSISTING U. S. DRY FORCE

In a speech delivered last night before members of the Jernigan For Sheriff club, letters which praised the present administration of the sheriff's office for co-operation with federal officers were read. The letters were as follows:

Los Angeles, Oct. 24, 1930. Mr. Sam Jernigan, Sheriff, Orange County, Santa Ana, Calif. Dear Sheriff:

"I desire to compliment you, and at the same time thank you for the able and efficient manner in which you have handled federal prisoners committed to the Orange county jail, during the past eight years, also for the splendid co-operation you have rendered this office. During the last year or two it has been somewhat difficult to find suitable accommodations for the confinement of federal prisoners confined to short terms, and it is particularly gratifying to know that you are always willing to accept these prisoners in any number and at any time of the day or night.

"As I thank you and wishing you every success in the coming election, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

(Signed) A. C. SITTEL,

United States Marshal, Oct. 24, 1930. Office of Probation Administrator District No. 11, States of California, Nevada, and Territory of Hawaii. Jernigan for Sheriff Club, Orange County, California. Gentlemen:

"In answer to your request for information concerning co-operation between the sheriff's office of Orange county, and the Probation unit, would state that we have been more than pleased with the co-operation afforded us.

"There is no record of your office failing to co-operate at any time, and such assistance has always been given without reservation. This office appreciates the use of your automobiles and men at different times, and working conditions with your department have been exceptionally satisfactory."

Your very truly,

(Signed) W. G. WALKER,

Acting Administrator, 11th Dist.

ROAD BRINGS CAMPAIGN FUNDS TO AID GEORGE JEFFREY, STUART LUCAS CLAIMS IN ADDRESS MADE AT CORONA DEL MAR

In a speech at Corona Del Mar last night Stuart Lucas, candidate for supervisor from the fifth district, declared that for political reasons which he said are obvious, all the road machinery of Orange county has been "brought into our district, and put to work, within the closing days of the campaign." He also said that his challenge to a debate with Supervisor George Jeffrey has not been accepted.

Some two weeks ago I publicly declared that I had contributed $50.00 for such purpose; Mr. C. H. Chapman contributed $25.00 for the same purpose; Mr. C. E. Utt, $100.00 for that purpose; D. N. Kelley, $50.00 and C. S. Crookshank, $50.00.

"You made this improvement for these people out of the taxpayers' money and then accepted from them private donations for your campaign. Is this, Mr. Jeffrey, a proper use of the people's money for whom you are trustee?"

"If it was right to build this road why did you wait until September 15th to start it and complete it, in record time, before election day? If you were not using the taxpayers' money to influence these people and get such contributions to your campaign fund, why did you permit it to be solicited and why did you accept and use it? Do you call that a square deal to the people of your district, or county? Is that your brand of politics? Do you honestly think, in the light of your political performances, the people should return you as their representative? You talk about treating the people of your district fairly. Instead why don't you talk about your fair treatment of the 'Powers that be' in Santa Ana, who are your real instructors in all important matters."

"I would like you to answer some of these questions, and so would many hundreds of the small ranch and home owners who live in the district you so smilingly call 'yours,'—and I mean the 5th supervisorial district,—not the first or third. Don't get them mixed."

"My friends, we are fighting the same old crowd in this fall election as we had to fight in the sixteen million dollar bond contest,—and only one member of that powerful political group lives in our district, and that man is George Jeffrey. Through him it hopes to definitely control your destinies and our district. Milked of their appellation, the issue now, so far as that clique is concerned, is exactly the same as it was then,—the High Dam, and they are waiting to see what happens to George Jeffrey before calling a new election upon that proposition, for which they have already set aside twenty thousand dollars. They didn't fool us then and they are not going to fool us now, and I feel confident the result of this election now will be the same as it was then,—a victory for you and for me over George Jeffrey by a vote of two and a half to one."

"Is it not a fact that the work on that road was commenced about September 15th and last and completed about October 15th, or about nineteen days before election?"

"Is it not a fact that this improvement was for the special benefit of a mere handful of wealthy Santa Ana business and professional men, some of whom live on this road and are your political backers and advisors; that is to say, W. B. Wellington, C. H. Chapman, C. E. Utt, D. N. Kelley and C. S. Crookshank?"

"Is it not a fact that immediately upon the completion of this road solicitation was made of these men for contributions to a campaign fund for you? And is it not a fact that Col W. B. Wellington contributed $50.00 for such purpose; Mr. C. H. Chapman contributed $25.00 for the same purpose; Mr. C. E. Utt, $100.00 for that purpose; D. N. Kelley, $50.00 and C. S. Crookshank, $50.00?"

"My friends, we are fighting the same old crowd in this fall election as we had to fight in the sixteen million dollar bond contest,—and only one member of that powerful political group lives in our district, and that man is George Jeffrey. Through him it hopes to definitely control your destinies and our district. Milked of their appellation, the issue now, so far as that clique is concerned, is exactly the same as it was then,—the High Dam, and they are waiting to see what happens to George Jeffrey before calling a new election upon that proposition, for which they have already set aside twenty thousand dollars. They didn't fool us then and they are not going to fool us now, and I feel confident the result of this election now will be the same as it was then,—a victory for you and for me over George Jeffrey by a vote of two and a half to one."

"Is it not a fact that immediately upon the completion of this road solicitation was made of these men for contributions to a campaign fund for you? And is it not a fact that Col W. B. Wellington contributed $50.00 for such purpose; Mr. C. H. Chapman contributed $25.00 for the same purpose; Mr. C. E. Utt, $100.00 for that purpose; D. N. Kelley, $50.00 and C. S. Crookshank, $50.00?"

"If it was right to build this road why did you wait until September 15th to start it and complete it, in record time, before election day? If you were not using the taxpayers' money to influence these people and get such contributions to your campaign fund, why did you permit it to be solicited and why did you accept and use it? Do you call that a square deal to the people of your district, or county? Is that your brand of politics? Do you honestly think, in the light of your political performances, the people should return you as their representative? You talk about treating the people of your district fairly. Instead why don't you talk about your fair treatment of the 'Powers that be' in Santa Ana, who are your real instructors in all important matters."

"I would like you to answer some of these questions, and so would many hundreds of the small ranch and home owners who live in the district you so smilingly call 'yours,'—and I mean the 5th supervisorial district,—not the first or third. Don't get them mixed."

ORDAZ GIVEN LIFE
TERM FOR MURDER

A convicted murderer was sentenced to life imprisonment today in superior court by Judge James L. Allen. The prisoner was Jesus Oraz, who was found guilty of the murder of his common-law wife, Emma Chavez, in their apartment in Placentia last June, after a jury trial in the court of Judge Allen which ended early this week.

The court ordered the prisoner transported to the San Quentin prison, where he will spend the rest of his natural life. The jury verdict carried with it a recommendation that the man be sentenced to prison for life. He was found guilty of first degree murder.

'Y' BOYS TO HAVE HALLOWE'EN GAMES

Spooks and witches will be on parade at the Y. M. C. A. tonight, when the boys observe their annual Halloween celebration.

A program of thrillers has been arranged by Boys' Secretary D. H. Tibbals and Physical Director R. R. Russick, who have been warning the lads that no faint-hearted pilgrim should venture into the "den of horrors," or brave the dangers of the "haunted cellar."

The feature of the evening will be achieved in the costumes to be worn by the boys, and the prizes to be awarded for the most original and striking ones. There are prizes offered for the best tramp costume, the best "lady" costume, and the best clown, and a special reward is promised for the best all round get-up shown by any boy.

There will be lively games during the evening, and something to eat, and the boys who attend will realize that it is truly Hallowe'en.

MATTISON B. JONES, IN KREG
SPEECH, PREDICTS ELECTION OF YOUNG THROUGH DRY VOTE

The Hon. Mattison B. Jones, of Los Angeles, in an address over KREG last night, urged voters of California to stand by their dry and law enforcement principles, regardless of party, and elect Milton K. Young governor of California on November 4.

The speaker called attention to two viewpoints in the campaign, namely the relative character of Young and Rolph and the contention that Southern California is entitled to be represented in the governor's chair, particularly at the time when reapportionment of congressional districts is looming.

He further blasted the last minute attacks made by Los Angeles newspapers against Young and stated that if these publications are sincere in their stand, "the reason they make this last minute attack on Young is because they are convinced of his sincerity in his program to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment and the laws of the state."

Jones recalled that the Republican platform is silent on the question of prohibition while the Democratic platform has pledged law enforcement, particularly in regard to the Eighteenth Amendment.

"The efforts of those who are urging Republicans to vote for party right or wrong are intended to persuade their voters that the only way to support President Hoover is to vote the party ticket," said the speaker. He then quoted from a speech by the president at the American Legion convention in Boston on October 6, in which the executive said:

"The first high purpose you express is to uphold and defend the Constitution and to maintain law and order in the United States. Happily your ideal is my first and most sacred duty. As president of the United States I am sworn by the whole people to maintain the Constitution and enforce the laws. No man should dare to call himself a faithful American and suggest otherwise."

In launching his address Jones said that "in Southern California we have enough votes to elect the governor next Tuesday. From the standpoint of self interest and fair dealing Southern California is entitled to send from its own ranks to Sacramento Mr. Young, of Los Angeles."

"The next Legislature will be called upon to re-district the state according to the 1930 census, for representation in the lower house of congress; and that legislature made up most largely from the other 48 counties will more than likely make every effort to avoid giving Southern California its just proportion of the increased representation that our population entitles us in the lower house of congress. If such be the attitude of the Legislature the veto power of the governor from Southern California will be of tremendous force in getting justice done to Southern California. A Southern California governor will see that all the power of his great office is utilized to that end, while a Northern California governor would not be so inclined. Therefore, from the standpoint of material interest and welfare of Southern California, it is absolutely necessary to elect Milton K. Young governor of this state. The remedy for this situation is absolutely in the hands of Southern California."

The speaker recalled that Rolph polled only 36 per cent of the Republican vote at the primaries and that 75,000 to 100,000 Democrats bolted to vote for him.

"If those votes be subtracted from his total vote of 36 per cent it is a fact stands out that Rolph polled far less than one-third of the Republican vote at the primary. On this basis no one can claim that Rolph truly represents the Republican sentiment of this state," he declared.

Jones stated that there will be three classes of voters next Tuesday, those who will stand by their party right or wrong, those who are wet regardless of all other consideration and the hundreds of thousands of Republicans and Democrats "who are personally and politically dry and who are at all sacrifices willing to stand for principle when arrayed against party loyalty and elect the Democrat dry candidate governor of California."

"If this third group is as determined and devoted to what they believe and preach, as those constituting the second group, there will not be the slightest question that Milton K. Young will be the next

*governor of California.

"The latest appeal sent out by the secretary of the Association opposed to prohibition in this country urged the voters everywhere to forget parties and politics, to forget that they were Republicans, to forget that they were Democrats, and remember the paramount issue, namely—to destroy and repeal the 18th Amendment and the Volstead act."

"President Hoover appeals for the enforcement of law and particularly the prohibition laws of the country. The Association against the 18th Amendment and for the nullification of the Amendment holds a contrary position to the president."

"My fellow citizens, I as an American citizen, and believing that the rights of the people are above all else, prefer to follow the teaching of President Hoover than the teaching of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment to the Constitution. My appeal, therefore, is to urge you to join us in this fight to elect a dry Democrat to the governorship of California. Help us to protect the name of California before the people of the other 47 states."

"Finally, let me say that I have known Mr. Milton K. Young for the past 25 years. That knowledge has been of a rather close and intimate nature, as a fellow member of the bar of the state of California, and as a neighbor and friend. He has been admitted to practice before all of the courts in the state of California and before the federal courts of California and Arizona, and before the supreme court of the United States, and Mr. Young has practiced in all those courts. He has also practiced before the interstate commerce commission of the United States. He is known as one of the ablest members of the California bar. I have never heard the integrity of any legal opinion of his questioned. He has the respect of our entire judiciary. In all matters he has been an active citizen. He is the father of a splendid family and a husband of a noble wife. In the light of the noon day sun, his record stands unimpeachable!"

CHEST REPORTS SHOW $38,525
IN FUND TODAY

With the Community Chest campaign formally ended on Wednesday, work has continued steadily on the effort to bring the amount up to a point nearer the goal, with the result that at noon today the figure recorded at headquarters stood at $38,525, with more coming in as belated pledges are reported.

For the purpose of cleaning up the canvass of the residential district of the city, a group of women workers met this morning and went out once more to call on those in their territory who had been missed, or who had failed to respond at the first appeal.

Perhaps the most striking feature of the whole campaign has been the response of the people employed by the various business houses of the city. Among those which co-operated, 62 have turned in their reports, showing a total of $4089.30 pledged by these employees. There are still 17 firms not reported, and there is every reason to believe that their contributions, when turned in, will put this division very near to its goal of $5000. This represents an increase of about 60 per cent over the giving by the same group last year.

In the public schools, returns up to this noon totaled $2,937.77, which Superintendent Cranston to hold that when all the pledges are in, the amount will be well over the mark of $2500.

That the business district will yield at least $1000 additional is the confident expectation of Sam Hurwitz. A number of the friends of the Chest have been out of the city, or for some other reason have not made their pledges, and with their contributions added to the $3825 already in hand, the goal of $10,000 will be reached in the next few days, it is hoped.

The pledges from branch houses are coming in slowly, on account of having to go through various hands for approval, but the fund is mounting up gradually.

Manager R. R. Miller this morning expressed his conviction that at least $4000 additional will be available as the people are seen and convinced of the need, and he figures that with the fund brought up to the neighborhood of $45,000, the agencies depending on the Chest for support will be able to carry on their work by exercising rigid economy, and by eliminating some extensions which were hoped for during the year.

"Very few cities have been able to fill their Chest quotas in toto," says Miller, "and if we in Santa Ana can bring ours up to within 10 per cent of the goal, we shall have nothing to apologize for among the cities of California. We must face the fact that conditions are not favorable, and that money raising is hard. I believe that our agencies will be able, in most cases, to carry on a reasonably satisfactory work on the funds which are to be made available, and we find that they are in every case ready to meet the situation by exercising the most careful economy in operation. The faithful efforts of our workers, continued for a few days longer, undoubtedly will result in giving the support which is absolutely essential for the coming year. Certainly we have a right, as citizens of Santa Ana, to be proud of the spirit which has been shown by a majority of our people in their response to the call for help."

The oldest motion picture that is still being shown is The Birth of a Nation, produced in 1916.

Tomato Plants In Buena Park District Active

30 BARRELS OF PULP DRIED IN KILN ON ROOF

BUENA PARK, Oct. 31.—The Pacific Fruit and Produce company is packing shipping from three to four carloads of green tomatoes a week from the warehouse on Grand avenue and the Southern Pacific tracks leased from the American Produce company.

This company is a part of the General Fruit corporation with 44 branch distributing stores in Canada and the middle and western states.

L. W. Davy, the local manager, states that as soon as the frost hits the tomatoes in the central states the market improves and from one to two cars a day will soon be shipped from Buena Park.

The green tomatoes are not injured for shipping even though the frost has killed the upper parts of the vines, according to Davy, who states that the blighted tomatoes will form blisters after a few days in the warehouse and the remainder will be ready for shipping.

For the past three years this company has packed from La Mirada and last year shipped green tomatoes until the latter part of December.

Fifteen employees are on the local payroll at the present time. This season's largest production of tomatoes in the Buena Park district as well as in other parts of Southern California has resulted in the Udo Tomacina Corporation tomato cannery running at full capacity during the summer months and although the blight has effected the tomatoes to some extent, the plant is still handling an average of 40 tons a day. From 60 to 75 tons a day were handled during the summer months and the maximum capacity last year was 45 tons.

During the early part of August more tomatoes were shipped in than could be handled at the local plant and they were sent on to the Arlington plant operated by the same company. Tomatoes are shipped here from all parts of Southern California, from San Diego to the San Fernando valley.

Angelo Glorioso, manager of the local plant, states that the new warehouse, 60 by 70, erected at a cost of $3500, has been used for storing tomato paste produced during the year, awaiting a better market. In past years the paste has been shipped to all parts of the globe.

An experiment has been tried this year at the Buena Park plant. A kiln was built on the roof of the cannery and over 30 barrels of tomato pulp was sun dried, and if this proves satisfactory the product will be produced on an extensive scale next year and shipped to eastern and foreign markets.

TAKE CORES IN SUPERIOR WELL IN BEACH CITY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 31.—Superior Oil company started this week taking cores in its deep well on Twentieth street between Ocean and Walnut. Heretofore the Superior has had access to the logs on the McCasland well and has not needed to do any coring. The fact that the crew is now coring is believed by oil men to indicate that the Superior has passed the McCasland in depth. This would mean that the Superior well is below 6700 feet in depth. It also indicates the Superior is going ahead with its deep test here, regardless of what happens at the McCasland well.

Because Superior found its 160 acre lease at Kettleman Hills capable of producing 12,000 barrels well with 40,000,000 feet of gas, it was supposed here that the company would not care to take what was under the ground at Huntington Beach or to go ahead with its refinery plans here.

The McCasland well at Twenty-first and Olive is drilling ahead below 6750 and is making slow headway, owing to the peculiar condition of the formation which is shale, with alternate hard and sticky strata that make drilling exceedingly slow and difficult. The well has excellent gas showings and encouraging oil showings, but is not yet an oil well. Conditions at the well indicate that an oil well may be picked up at any time, or that it might continue as at present indefinitely. The Superior Oil company officials are said to be slightly discouraged at not picking up a productive sand at the present depth or even several hundred feet shallower.

The Vaqueros Major Oil company's state tide land well west of the city limits in the ocean has drilled to 1000 feet in compliance with the state permit requirements and drilling has been stopped, pending the installation of heavier machinery and the building of a heavier derrick, both of which the company announced will be provided with in a few weeks at the most.

Trestle brothers are completing a redrill job on their well at Eighteenth and Acacia. The well is on the pump and clearing up nicely and looks like a good well. Bill Luttrell is setting casing at 4400 feet in his well at Eighteenth and Ocean and has a good well in prospect. This is one of the new redrill completions in the town lot field.

The Woodward well at Sixteenth and Ocean is on the pump and is making 50 barrels a day of good clean oil. This was the well that had trouble with the circulation and ran into an underground cavity that took weeks to bridge across or fill so that drilling could continue. It made the job of drilling the well an expensive one, but it will pay itself out in time with the present good production.

The redrill job of the Talbert Oil company at Eighteenth and Acacia is completed and the well will be put on the beam shortly. It looks like it will be a good pumper.

The R. D. Byrd redrill job at Eighteenth and Magnolia is completed, being to 3800 feet and the well is looking good and will doubtless make a good pumper.

The Rex Oil company well in the old field near Garfield and Huntington has overcome its water trouble and will be brought in for a producer at 3800 feet. It looks like it will make a fair producer. If it should not be a good producer, it would be the

SUIT ON BEACH FRONTAGE NEAR COUNCIL TOLD

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 31.—Possibility of a suit against the city for beach frontage was indicated in a report made to the city council last night by City Attorney Leslie F. Kimmell.

Attorneys representing the heirs of the Henry E. Goff estate interviewed Kimmell said, inquiring about city rights. That the city had made no claim that he knew of, was the reply made by Kimmell, he reported. That representatives of the heirs might put up a fence to show their right to the beach was stated by one of the attorneys, Walter E. Jenkins, of Torrance, the city's legal advisor told the council. The beach property in question is at the foot of the cliff and extends from Broadway to Cleo street, taking in beach most used by the public. No action was taken by the council.

The resignation of Councilman R. L. McCrea was read and accepted without comment. McCrea stated in his resignation, which was read by City Clerk George W. Prior, that he had accepted the place on the council when William W. Riddell resigned with the understanding that he could withdraw at any time, which option he was exercising. No time was set for appointing someone in his place.

Controversy waxed acrimonious at times over the project of abandoning a triangular strip at the foot of Ocean avenue to T. J. Moen in exchange for a smaller triangular place on Coast boulevard. Question as to the title of the Moen property was brought into the argument and debated vigorously by both sides.

It started when George William Smith, realtor, thought that the Realty board should make an appraisal of relative values. Councilman C. R. Clapp, in answer to a question raised, did not see that straightening Ocean avenue in any way interfered with the accessibility of the beach and thought that the straightening and alterations in the Moen building would constitute an improvement.

Councilman Frank B. Champion said that there was a move to open the street through to the beach on a 40-foot width. Councilman M. B. McMillan concurring with Mr. Champion in the assertion that property owners desire this, George Brown told the council that property owners on Ocean avenue, of which he is one, had refused to sign this petition. John Arscott, also a property owner on Ocean avenue, retorted that this was due to the project of widening the avenue and not to the widening of the foot of the street. Champion said that the acquisition had been renewed within the last few days.

Ed J. Hofer said that the title was not clear and that he had been so informed. Councilman Clapp said that the courts had passed on the matter. Henry J. Weeks said that documentary evidence would clear up the matter and the argument would not, asking that records be consulted and stating where these could be produced. Mayor Bishop thought that there would be no harm in abandoning if the city had title to the Moen property.

City Attorney Kimmell seized this moment to report on the ownership of property covered by the board walk and said it seemed to be private property, the city having no jurisdiction.

The debate was then renewed. Citizens and councilmen taking vigorous parts in it. The question as to whether it was the city's duty to return it to City Attorney Kimmell for investigation, his report to be made at the second regular November meeting. As a parting shot George Webster expressed the opinion that Mr. Moen probably purchased in good faith, but that there might still be question as to the title of the vendors.

In the presentation of the bill of Harvey and Harvey for legal service in the Ruby street controversy with Stillman E. Jamieson, the amount being $150, it was brought out that the city best Jamieson on a mandamus, that his second application was faulty and that no further communication was received. That a tent is being used which is on the disputed 25 feet was stated by Councilman McMillan. The matter was finally left to the city attorney and Building Inspector Floyd Case to determine facts and give the necessary notice to the occupant to vacate city premises.

HUNTINGTON BEACH SCHOOL ACQUIRES 12 ACRES OF LAND

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 31.—The Huntington Beach union high school has purchased 12 acres of land adjoining the high school site on the west, from the Huntington Beach company at a cost of $30,162, which figures about $2500 an acre. An agreement or condition of sale is that the acreage acquired cannot be drilled for oil.

The purchase price was paid in cash out of surplus funds on hand. The new plunge being built at the high school will be paid out of the surplus funds on hand, and neither project adds any further tax burden to the district.

The additional 12 acres of ground provides a tract of over 30 acres of ground for the use of the

BUENA PARK'S MILL WORKING DOUBLE CREWS

BUENA PARK, Oct. 31.—After much litigation and other handicaps, Buena Park's feed mill project, recently acquired by the Western Milling company, has been placed on a sound basis by its new owners and extensive improvements are now under way to more than double its output.

The plant, which was operated by the Pace Milling company, was taken over by the new owners September 9 and crews are now working double shifts and at night to take care of the rapidly increasing orders.

Brother Believed Killed In War To Visit La Habrans

LA HABRA, Oct. 31.—U. R. Phillips and his sister, Mrs. Gurnard Beer, received word yesterday that their brother, Robert Phillips, whom they had not heard from since he was overseas, was well and happy and would soon pay them a visit.

Their last word from him was during the World war in 1917. His possessions were returned to them at the close of the war as no trace of him could be found.

Yesterday, they found that he was at the home of their father in Idaho. He had suffered shell shock during the war and was unable to recall his home and family. It was while in Iowa last week that he discovered his father's address. They are planning a happy reunion soon with the arrival of the missing veteran in California.

Gleaming hair!

The way modern hair dressers accentuate your hair by lovely lines and contours makes it important to keep the hair in perfect condition.

Now, millions know the quickest way to give the hair new life and lustre; to bring out its natural color, is with Danderine. It is so easy to use; you simply moisten your brush with it each time you arrange your hair.

Danderine dissolves the crust of dandruff; stops falling hair; puts the scalp in the pink of condition. It helps the hair grow long, silky, abundant; gives it more lustre than brilliantine. It makes the hair easy-to-arrange; holds it in place. Waves look nicer; stay in longer when "set" with Danderine.

OBSERVE 55TH WEDDING EVENT IN BEACH CITY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Newland celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary this week. Friends called during the day to offer congratulations and messages were received from children living out of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Newland were married in Jacksonville, Ill., 55 years ago. They came to California in 1882, and seven years later moved to the home they now occupy and where they have lived for 35 years.

Ten children were born to this pioneer couple, all of whom are living. They have 16 grandchildren and six great grandchildren. Mr. Newland has always been engaged in farming, though at times he was active in various financial projects, being for years president of the First National bank here, a director and heavy stockholder in the linoleum factory, and a stockholder and director in a number of development and financial projects in past years, although of late years he has devoted his time to ranching and to the enjoyment of the beautiful home and farm that he built here.

Mr. Newland cleared and drained a swamp from hundreds of the 500-acre tract he now has. Mrs. Newland worked side by side with her husband in the building of their home, setting out by hand the first 1000 eucalyptus trees on the Newland ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Newland have both served as members of the high school and grammar school boards of education. Mr. Newland helped to organize the first school in this school district, donating from his private fortune toward the establishment and upkeep of the school, and personally bringing families with children into the district in order that there would be sufficient enrollment to establish a public school. Their own children attended the public schools and later went thru colleges.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The serenade was very nice. In fact they played and sang it twice and all the Tines clapped real loud. "That's great," one of them cried. "Please strum and as you go along, we'll try to sing a little song. It may be good, or may be bad. We won't know till it's tried."

The man who had the big guitar replied, "All right, days, here you are. I'll simply play a lot of chords and you make up the tune. I'm sure that I can follow you. It really isn't hard to do. I've learned a lot of tricks since I have played this old guitar."

And then he started off, "pling, pling!" and all the bunch began to sing. "Four happy Tinymites are we, just journeying in Spain. We came to see what we could see and we're as pleased as we can be. In fact we've seen so much we know our trip's not been in vain."

The Travel Man cried, "Say, that's grand. I really cannot understand how you make up the words so quick. You make me very proud to travel 'round with lads like you because of all the things you do." The Tinymites then noticed they'd attracted quite a crowd.

So, once again they sang their song and not a single note went wrong. The people who had gathered 'round gave all of them a hand. And then they heard the Travel Man say, "We must go!" And off they ran. It was the most fun they had had in any foreign land.

Not far away the Tines saw a pony. Clowny shouted, "Aw, I'd like to have a ride on him. Just see how nice he's dressed." The ride was soon arranged and then wee Clowny felt real good again. He sat up mighty straight and tried to look his very best.

(The Tinymites find a very unusual cart in the next story.)

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't. TEE, TIE, PIE, PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.
2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.
3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

SLOW TO SURE—This hole shouldn't give you any difficulty and if you'll make your shots SLOW but SURE, a par four will be your reward.

RECKLESS STATEMENTS BY LUCAS NAILED BY COL. WELLINGTON

Fifth District Voters Urged To Consider The Facts

To the voters of the Fifth Supervisorial district:

Next Tuesday, in electing a supervisor, we have the choice of two men. These two are George Jeffrey, for many years a resident of our district, and S. H. Lucas, who took up his residence in this district no earlier than 1924.

During the campaign that he has made Mr. Lucas has indulged in many statements that seem to us to be grossly unfair. Our first inclination was to pass the statements by. It seemed to us that George Jeffrey had been in the district so long that voters must see through the kind of campaign that Mr. Lucas was making, and thus discount Mr. Lucas' statements. However, Mr. Lucas has made the same speech all over the district, and with the close of the campaign at hand it seems advisable to take up some of the charges he has made. It is advisable to do this for the reason that there are hundreds of new voters in the district who do not know Mr. Jeffrey and who have had no opportunity of sizing up Mr. Lucas at first hand, and these voters might be misled by Mr. Lucas.

We propose, therefore, to lay before the voters of the fifth district the facts as we have found them to be in relation to the six points that Mr. Lucas has raised and reiterated in his talks. WE DO THIS IN THE SPIRIT OF FAIR PLAY. WE BELIEVE THAT ABOVE ALL THINGS BELIEVE IN FAIR PLAY, AND FOR THAT REASON WE ASK THAT THEY READ THE REMAINDER OF THIS ARTICLE THOUGHTFULLY.

To begin with we lay the charges before you as published in a Santa Ana newspaper that is giving Mr. Lucas its support.

"At a meeting held last night in Laguna Beach, Stuart H. Lucas, candidate for supervisor of the fifth district, discussed activity of Supervisor George Jeffrey which he said tended to favor larger financial interests at the expense of the mass of the voters. Lucas mentioned five specific propositions in this connection.

"The five which he specified were: 1—Abandoning the county road at Capistrano Beach; 2—permitting the closing of the road leading to the public beach at Dana Point; 3—permitting the fencing off of the Santa Fe tracks at Serra, thus closing the road and virtually destroying the use of land deeded for road purposes to county years ago at the request of the supervisor of that district; 4—signing the rock, sand and gravel ordinance No. 287, which makes it punishable by fine and imprisonment to sell or transport that material unless accompanied by a weigh bill furnished by a public weigh-master, and 5—by fostering and working for the 'Bailey plan' high dam in the Santa Ana canyon a year ago when he knew that it would cost the taxpayers of the county between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 more than the upper site."

In his address, Mr. Lucas is quoted as saying: "I FIND THAT DURING HIS INCUMBENCY, THE TAXES ON PROPERTY IN THIS DISTRICT HAVE RISEN 600 TO 800 PER CENT."

Let us take these much heralded five points one at a time and talk about facts.

"Abandoning the county road at Capistrano Beach." Years ago the road crossed the Santa Fe tracks, on to the beach side of the tracks, and then crossed back again. When the state came along to take over the road, it insisted on having the highway entirely on the east side of the tracks so that the two dangerous railroad crossings would be eliminated. This was done and the road on the coast side, no longer needed, was abandoned. When the beach was subdivided the map approved by the supervisors called for a road next to the railroad right of way on the coast side of the railroad. As yet that road has not been accepted as a county road, the supervisors, very rightfully it seems to us, having insisted that the subdividers put the road in shape and oil and gravel it or pave it before it is accepted as a county road. And that is exactly what the subdividers have agreed to do. What more could Mr. Lucas or anybody else ask than just that?

"2—Permitting the closing of the road leading to the public beach at Dana Point." There has been a lot in the papers about this much misunderstood situation. The bare facts are these: When Nat H. Neff, superintendent of highways, sought a certificate from the Orange County Title Co. showing Orange County to be the legal owner of this strip of land to the beach, the title company over the signature of C. E. Nevins of that company replied that Orange County by user may have acquired title to the strip "but it is not disclosed in the records, the interest, if any, being acquired by endorsement." This made the question a legal question and it was shown the board that an action in court might result in entire loss of right to use the road. Therefore, negotiations were entered into and are now being carried on by the district attorney's office with a view to securing the very best possible settlement under the law for the public. At this time it looks as though the county will secure a pathway title, and that will be a lot better than going into court and endeavoring to prove a title that the Orange County Title Co. states is "not disclosed in the records."

"3—Permitting the fencing of the Santa Fe tracks at Serra, etc." Mr. Lucas refers to the Victoria street crossing. The State Highway Commission is responsible for that closing, and we leave it to the voters of the district to judge whether it acted wisely. The state commission negotiated with the Santa Fe for getting the Santa Fe to help pay for the proposed under-passes at Serra. The Santa Fe saw no object in paying many scores of thousands of dollars to eliminate a crossing and still leave the crossing a hazard. The commission, acting with the Santa Fe, brought action before the State Railroad Commission to close Victoria street crossing, and so obvious was it to the commission that the thing ought to be done that it did not even hold a public hearing, but on November 15, 1928, gave the Santa Fe the order asked. Instead of the rough, dangerous crossing at Serra the public is now served by a wonderfully fine underpass only 1500 feet away. AND THAT'S THAT.

"4—Signing the rock, sand and gravel ordinance." The sealer of weights and measures asked for this ordinance, asserting it to be highly valuable and much needed, and used in some other counties. It required rock and gravel trucks to have weight tags. The ordinance appeared good, as it would have appeared to any supervisor under the circumstances. After it was passed it was found that it worked a hardship on a number of small sand pits and gravel pits where no scales were handy. When this was shown, the supervisors ordered the ordinance amended to take care of those small pits, and the ordinance is now in course of amendment. So there is nothing to get excited about in that, is there?

"5—By fostering and working for the Bailey dam, etc." Mr. Jeffrey believes in water conservation. He, as a public official and as one whose entire fortune is dependent upon pumping plants, with the other supervisors sought the best available scientific advice upon the situation, and took that advice, as anybody else in his position would have done. The bonds were defeated. Mr. Jeffrey recognizes that the need of conserving water is just as pressing as ever. His belief in the need of a water conservation program remains unchanged and he is ready to go forward to the solution of this great problem, honestly and fairly and for the good of the county, upon any plan that is backed by competent, honest professional advice.

"6—Mr. Lucas is quoted as saying: 'I find that during his incumbency, the taxes on property in this district have risen 600 to 800 per cent.' Friends, read that again. Then read this.

Mr. Jeffrey went into office in 1923. The total tax rate in the fifth district that year outside cities, as shown by the county records, was $1.90 per $100 of assessed valuation. This year the total tax rate outside cities in the fifth district is $1.85.

The road tax rate remains unchanged; in 1923 it was 40 cents and it is now 40 cents. Included in the $1.90 and $1.85 rates are various items, such as county general, which is lower in 1930 than it was in 1923, dropping from 33.5 cents to 25 cents, and county school which has gone up from 36 to 38 cents and county high school which has climbed from 23 cents to 25 cents. Whatever may have been done in some small areas with special districts or what any school district may have taken upon itself as a special tax need not be considered in this absurd charge Mr. Lucas has made that "taxes on property in this district have risen 600 and 800 per cent." Assessed valuation has gone up from $18,301,810 in 1923-24 to $22,716,955, which on the same rate would provide something like 22 per cent more money if the rate were still $1.90 and about 20 per cent with the rate $1.85. But the district certainly has grown since 1923 and no sensible person could expect our district to stand still all these years.

The truth is, voters of the fifth district, Mr. Jeffrey has made a very good record as supervisor. The points of attack that Mr. Lucas has used are so weak that when we consider facts that we are stronger for Mr. Jeffrey than ever. Mr. Jeffrey has been fair. He has been honest in his convictions and ready at all times to state views and back them up. Certainly it does not seem advisable for us to select as our supervisor a man who seemingly fails to fully investigate and analyze facts in trying to get our vote.

The Jeffrey for Supervisor Committee
M. B. WELLINGTON, Pres.

SAYS WELLINGTON DEFENSE OF JEFFREY PROVES CONTENTIONS OF STUART LUCAS

Stuart Lucas, candidate for supervisor in the fifth district, today answered statements published today and yesterday by Col. M. B. Wellington, in which the latter attempted to refute allegations made by Lucas regarding the activity of Supervisor George Jeffrey.

"One of our leading legal lights in Orange county took a shot at the charges made by me against some of the acts of George Jeffrey as supervisor in this district," said Lucas.

"The arguments are superficially eloquent, but as a matter of fact, fully proved my contention.

"1. 'Abandoning county road Capistrano Beach.' When the map of records of this subdivision was filed at the courthouse, no mention was made of the county road which at that time and for years previously had been shown on the county map. A strip 20 feet and 30 feet wide was marked lots XYZ, which were to be a road of that width next to and outside of the Santa Fe right of way. As Mr. Wellington states, the acceptance of the strip as a county road was denied by the supervisors as being narrow (I was informed). In this I believe they were right. About a year later a petition bearing 13 names was presented asking the abandonment of the old county road. Those signing this petition claimed they were induced to sign by the promise that the new road would be immediately graded and beautified. They naturally assumed it would be open to the public. The abandonment was allowed. Soon after a fence was put across this so-called 'road' and it has been kept closed ever since. I am glad to hear from Mr. Wellington that this promise is about to be complied with.

"2. 'Permitting the closing of the road to public beach at Dana Point.' The explanation of Mr. Wellington as to 'no title being vested in Orange county for road to public beach at Dana Point, is no doubt correct, as such things were loosely looked after in the early days of a big, wild, country."

"The road in question has been used as such for many years and I have heard Aaron Buchheim tell of grading and working that road 25 to 30 years ago. It is in not protecting the people and county in their rights that I am charging Mr. Jeffrey. Usage without protest for this length of time will give title as Mr. Wellington knows. This road was fenced off and the gate padlocked and this was permitted to continue for months by Mr. Jeffrey after many protests were made by Mr. Guy and others.

"According to Mr. Wellington, the state highway, acting with the Santa Fe railroad, requested the closing of this county road before the railroad commission, which request was granted November 15, 1928 without a hearing. What right had they to close a county road? What were our supervisors doing to permit it? Was it because one of the principal protestants was of Spanish blood? Yet this same protestant had at the written request of one of the board of supervisors donated to the county land which could have been sold for $15,000, for use of the county on this road. And that's that.

"4. Signing rock sand and gravel ordinances.

A complaint for quiet title to property in Laguna Beach has been filed in superior court by Grace L. Booth and others against Esther R. Ebersold, as administrator of an estate.

Agnes Marie Murphy is plaintiff in a divorce action that has been filed against J. John Murphy. The complaint charges desertion and failure to provide. They were married in 1923 and separated in 1928.

Charges of extreme cruelty are contained in a divorce complaint filed in superior court by Nellie B. Goon against Oscar B. Goon. The couple was married in Spokane, Wash., in 1910 and separated in 1925.

James M. Armfield was charged with wrongfully inflicting grievous bodily injury and mental suffering on his wife, Glendine Marie Armfield, in a complaint filed by the wife in superior court, in which she asked a decree of divorce. Judgment was asked to include custody of the child and the plaintiff also asked a restraining order to prevent the defendant from disposing of community property, totaling $7025.

MAY SPEED UP ORANGE COUNTY ROAD BUILDING

Tomorrow's highways today.

That may be the program for Orange county—if the plan of "advancing" each county its share of next year's gasoline tax money materializes.

The proposal was made to Governor Young in order that all counties may start their highway programs immediately and help relieve the unemployment crisis in California.

As a result, the governor has authorized B. B. Meek, director of public works, to make a study of an old state law, enacted in 1921, authorizing a governor to "advance" revenue to counties in times of great stress, from the general or emergency funds.

If Meek finds that it can legally be done, one of the greatest programs of highway building in California will get under way at once.

Meanwhile, Meek himself has inaugurated a million-dollar road-building program which will employ some 2000 men at present time. It will be carried on in all parts of the state.

Steam shovels and other machinery will be displaced for manpower with the pick and shovel, Meek said. Four camps would be established in Northern California and four in Southern California.

The most comprehensive program for unemployment relief, however, was offered by Will J. French, director of industrial relations. He proposes a study whereby relief may be provided for not only the present crisis but also others that may occur in the future, as follows:

Appointment of a state unemployment committee to study the problem in conjunction with cities, counties and universities. An intensive study of unemployment insurance with a view to submitting a bill to the 1931 legislature.

That state, county and city work be planned to provide a maximum of employment, and available federal resources utilized to the greatest advantage.

That attention of employers be directed to stabilization of employment, the alternating of "lay-offs," the dismissal wage, and the importance of new industries.

That study be given to the five-day week, pension plans, group and compensation insurance, age discrimination in industry, etc.

A legislative appropriation of $100,000 will be sought to carry these proposals into effect.

RAMBLING NOTES
I'm picking Santa Ana to beat San Diego by a touchdown. My guess is that the score will be 13 to 7.

Although members of the squad are divided in opinion as to which will win, every Woodrow Wilson high school football player is pulling for Santa Ana, says Art Cohn, Long Beach columnist.

Do you know why? Because, the Wilsonites are sure at San Diego. They think the Hilltoppers' "line play does not smack of the cleanest type of football," according to Cohn.

Charges of "dirty football" against San Diego are not new. Fullerton's relations with the border city school are still strained because the Indians thought San Diego piled up and did other unethical things in a game several years ago. You will notice San Diego is NOT on Fullerton's schedule this year.

Time has not dimmed, either, the day in 1921 when a group of Santa Ana stalwarts was barely suppressed from attacking a San Diego football team right out on Bowerd field when a Hilltopper swung his fist and bashed little "Eddy" Wilson's nose into a state of utter disfigurement.

Elliott and Everett Best, twin guards, saved the irate crowd the trouble of vengeance.

The ill-inspired San Diegoan was carried off the field in a stretcher on the very next play.

Woodrow Wilson players may be undecided about the winner tomorrow, but Pasadena players all say Santa Ana will finish in front.

Wilson and Pasadena have played both teams.

The Pasadenaans say they were not hit at San Diego like "Tex" Oliver's interferences bowled 'em over last week.

The San Diego stadium seats 40,000 so everyone will be accommodated tomorrow. Game-time is 2:30.

Hobbs Adams, the San Diego coach, is superstitious.

He purchased a complete new set of jerseys for his ball team, then discarded it for the old sweaters his boys wore here last fall when they beat the Saints, 6 to 0.

Adams' outfit got a surprise last week over in Phoenix.

They expected a "soft touch" in the Arizona city but lost 22 to 20.

Adams started his second stringers and spotted the Cowboys 15 points, so there is a catch to it.

"Dynamite" Post, former All-American center at Stanford, was interviewed over a Los Angeles radio last week.

During the course of his remarks, he was asked to pick an All-Stanford team.

Who do you think he picked out as his center?

None other than George Baker of Santa Ana.

I think that Al Reboin, Saint captain, is just as good a football player now as Orv Mohler was in his last season at Alhambra.

Reboin can do everything Mohler did. He may not be as shifty but he hits harder and his passing is better.

King Hall, San Diego's giant standing guard, is a brother of Bob Hall, the Southern California tackle. The younger Hall has still another year in high school before enrolling at S. C.

Guessin' again: Santa Ana 13, San Diego 7. Santa Ana J. C. 20, Phoenix 0. Tustin 7, Anaheim 6. Orange 26, Garden Grove 0. Huntington Beach, 6, Excelsior 0.

NAME PRIVETT TO START: DON SQUAD DEPARTS

Speeding toward Phoenix Ariz., a sturdy band of Santa Ana jaycee football players are enjoying all the comforts of a Pullman car tonight prior to the "intersectional" game tomorrow with the Phoenix junior college Bears, who invaded Santa Ana last year and went home defeated, 56 to 0.

Despite the fact that the game is only a practice affair, grid fans of Santa Ana and all of the Southern California junior college conference will await news of the clash with interest and anticipation because Coach Bill Cook has concocted a potent and formidable backfield combination that has the earmarks of perhaps the best offensive and defensive secondary group ever to represent Santa Ana junior college on the gridiron.

In all the games so far this season, the backfield has been composed of Wayne Garlock and Emmett Seacord, quarterbacks; Franklin Van Meter and Melvin Beatty, halfbacks and Clarence Hapes, fullback. Both Seacord and Garlock are excellent ball-packers, passers and punters but only one could play at the same time.

Privett In Backfield
Coach Cook therefore has rearranged his formations to give both a chance. Garlock moves to fullback, replacing Hapes, and Seacord moves to a halfback post, replacing Beatty. Franklin Van Meter, the best blocker on the team and who calls most of the signals in the huddle, remains at his usual station.

Cook's biggest surprise is at quarter where Miles "Shorty" Privett has been placed. Cook is pulling a typical Connie Mack play with Privett and intends to start him in the next three conference games. It was Privett who broke into the Long Beach game for only six plays but who averaged over eight yards.

This radical change in the Don backfield is not a nightmare or sudden decision. Cook has been grooming Privett for weeks while Garlock and Seacord are both too good to sit on the bench. As for Hapes, this big, bone-crushing line plunger is temporarily shelved but whenever a touchdown is in the offing or some yards are needed, he can be rushed into the game to drive his 220 pounds through, over or into the line.

Beatty On Sidelines
Beatty also is on the sidelines but his capable services at blocking will be used too. Bill Harkleroad and Erv Watkins are the other two halfbacks making the trip and will see plenty of action. Orville Schuchardt is the other quarterback while Clarence Hapes, Kiyoshi Shigekawa, Howard Rose, Bert Wilkins and Bert Wilkins will spell Garlock at full.

Cook announced that every one of the 26 making the trip will get to play. As for the selections, Coach Cook was hard pressed to pick the lucky 26 to get a free ride to Phoenix and left the final three choices up to the players. Three ballots were necessary to pick the trio. Those making the trip follow:

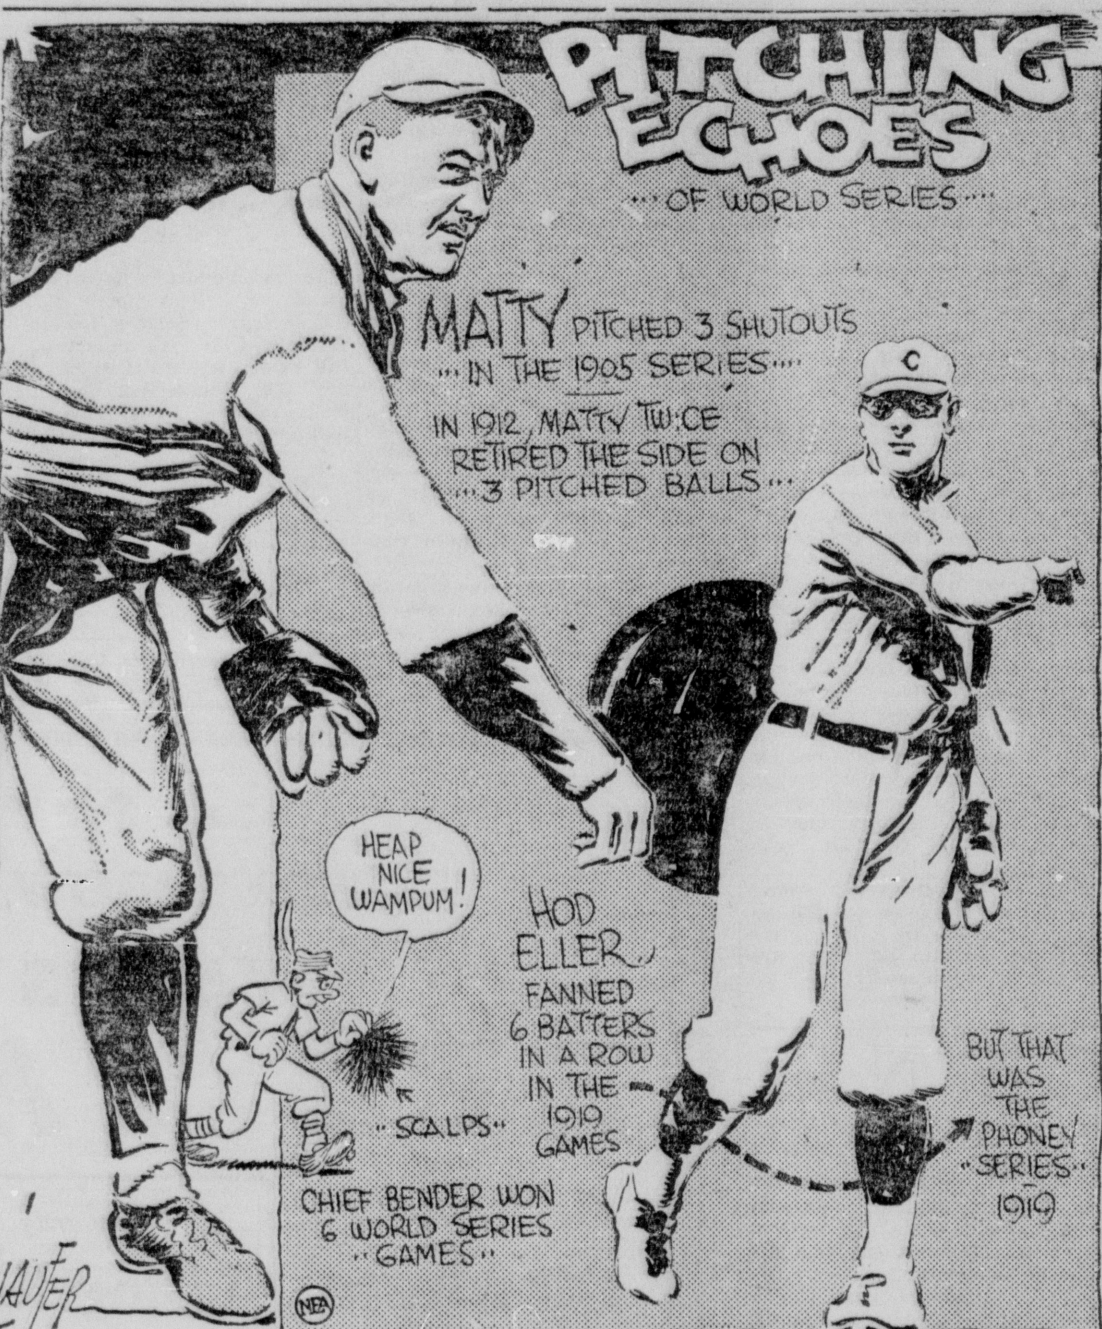

Ends—Hal Dunham, "Tohy" Greenow, Kiyoshi Hishashi, Solon Beall and Leroy Walbridge.
Tackles—Harry Clayton, Mike Santa Cruz, Harry Lake and Gilbert Kluhne.
Guards—Gene Olsen, Philip Martin, Curt McCoy, Kermit McCoy.
Centers—Captain A. Kluhne, Paul Bruce.
Quarterbacks—Miles Privett, Orville Schuchardt, Emmett Seacord, Melvin Beatty, Bill Harkleroad, Franklin Van Meter, Ervin Watkins.
Fullbacks—Wayne Garlock, Clarence Hapes, Howard Rose, Kiyoshi Shigekawa, Bert Wilkins.

Coach Cook, Manager Dale Fuller and Dr. M. A. Patton, a member of the board of education, completed the Don entourage. Radio station KOY of Phoenix will broadcast the game, starting at 2 p. m., Santa Ana time. The station is found on the dial between KREG of Santa Ana and KGER of Long Beach. The team was to depart via the Pacific Electric at 5 p. m. today and pull out from Los Angeles at 6:30. The return trip will start Sunday afternoon, the players reaching Santa Ana at 9 a. m. Monday.

WARNER ALTERS CARDINALS FOR U. C. L. A. GAME

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—Coach "Pop" Warner's football machine from Stanford, creaking slightly from hitting the Southern California stonewall last week, will go in to action against the University of California at Los Angeles tonight in the Coliseum.

Warner will present a lineup little resembling those used in the past encounters. Of his first stringers who saw action against the Trojans, only Hillman, quarter; Moffatt, half, and Marks, center, will be seen in the starting lineup tonight.

Caddell has replaced Carlier at right half because of his showing last week, with Bill Simkins starting in place of Rothert.

Coach Bill Spaulding has his Bruins in good condition for the battle. Dick Mulhaupt, left end, is his only casualty.

The Bruins never have taken the measure of Stanford, but have hopes of turning the trick tonight.

Nick Altrock, Schact Split, Report

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—Two famous comedians of the baseball diamond, Nick Altrock and Al Schact, are reported to have quarreled and broken up the famous combination which inspired many a laugh for baseball fans, according to rumors prevalent today.

"It is just a case of professional jealousy," said Earl Mack, coach of the American and National league baseball stars now on tour.

Whether the famous pair will be associated with the Washington baseball club next year is not definitely known.

BIG TEN GRID TITLE AT STAKE SATURDAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Title hopes of four of the remaining five contenders for the Big Ten championship will be in the balance tomorrow as the 1930 season enters its final month. The fifth aspirant, Michigan, has an open date and will not resume conference competition until November 15.

Northwestern and Minnesota, grouped with Michigan in the Big Ten unbeaten trio, meet at Minneapolis in the feature contest of the day and in the first clash of unbeaten conference clubs since the opening week of the season.

COUGARS FEAR OREGON STATE AERIAL GAME

By VINCENT MAHONEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—With only one exception, Major football teams on the coast take breathers Saturday between the jarring battles that lie behind and ahead.

The one game of importance takes place at Portland, where Oregon State college will try to stop the onrush of Washington State, leading contender for conference championship honors.

Curiously, though Oregon State is not a team of balanced and consistent offensive strength, the Beavers are conceding a fighting chance to stop Hollingsberry's Cougars where stronger clubs have failed. The reason is the firing arm of Buerke, quarterback, who produced the only weapon that was effective against Stanford and admittedly had "Pop" Warner scarred.

Must Expect Passes

In trouncing California and U. S. C. on consecutive Saturdays, the Cougars did not run into what they will undoubtedly face—an unremitting aerial game with a deadly thrower behind it.

The Cougars, however, have a passer of no mean skill in the person of Ellingsen, whose right arm originated two touchdowns against California, and have an undoubtedly edge over the Beavers in every other department of play. On the whole, the Cougars look just a bit too tough for Paul Schiesler's crowd.

Bears Meet Montana

California, loser in both conference starts, will try to perfect against routine opposition from Montana something resembling a miracle—a defense that will avail against the "Thundering Herd" of U. S. C., late perpetrators of the worst drubbing Stanford has had in nine years. The Bears go to Los Angeles next week.

U. S. C. also takes a breather against Denver university, in preparation for California.

At Seattle, Jimmy Phelan's Washington Huskies, who last week conquered California, will give untested reserves a tryout against the light eleven from College of Puget Sound. The Huskies next week face a formidable hurdle, the Stanford Indian on his own hunting ground.

Too bad, but—The Register will tell you all about it over Radio KREG.

Go if you can, but if you can't—Just tune in KREG and hear The Register's broadcast.

'HUMBUG' OUTS TO KING: DELHI FEATURE FLOPS

"Pop" Barrett's lightweight champion of Old Mexico, Humbert Gutierrez, stood revealed today as just plain Humbug—at least to the unfavored few who survived the most dismal and disappointing evening in the history of Orange County Athletic club boxing last night.

The unfavored few were of good mind to slightly modify Gutierrez's last name, too, after watching the Mexican quit cold to Ritchie King in the third round of what was to have been one of the finest 10-round windups ever promoted here.

There was no excuse or justification for Gutierrez's action. He deliberately "resigned" from the contest, falling to the floor several times without taking a blow.

Twice Referee Bob White made the spineless "champion" clamber out of the resin. Once he went so far as to actually pick him up bodily and command him to proceed.

Gutierrez's Purse Withheld

When Gutierrez, as frightened as a hare, still refused to fight even when verbally chastised by the "third man," White contemptuously ignored him and gave the doubtful honors to King.

Referee White ordered H. T. Foust and the 40 et 8, co-promoters of the Delhi club, to hold up Gutierrez's purse. White said he would take up Gutierrez's card, licensing him to box in this state, and recommend that the California boxing commission suspend him indefinitely.

Gutierrez was a mistake, and the less said about the whole affair will be to the everlasting benefit of boxing in Orange county, although where Matchmaker Barrett ever found the horizontal "champion" might be worth an explanation to the fans.

King, always game and willing to fight, did all that he could do to make a match. He is not to blame for what transpired. There was no evidence whatever of an "arrangement."

Rest of Card Featureless

The rest of the card was almost as bad, although all the participants TRIED anyway.

Domingo Lopez, a substitute for Johnny Previs, was knocked out by Frankie Arregon in the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round semi. Lopez hung on all through the uneven melee, a stomach blow rendering him useless for the rest of the night and certainly sicker than Previs who was introduced from the ring just to prove he was ill.

Frank Rowsay stopped Ray Regalado in the second round.

Regalado was down three times before the end.

Peter Penna, a sub for Baby Joe Mendez, won six straight rounds from Irish Jimmy Dugan in the curtain-raiser. This wasn't the poorest bout of the four by any means but Dugan has enough after the second heat.

Boxing is having a pretty tough time here and main events like last night's will not help espouse its cause. That the fans simply will not pay to see strangers in the top spots was never more amply demonstrated. The card was almost all-strange and doubtless set a new low for gross intake.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 31.—(INS)—Pressed to talk about himself, Arthur ("Whitman") Shires, major league baseball player and erstwhile pugilist, today admitted that he was a greater fight referee than Jack Dempsey. Shires is to referee a bout here next week if the boxing commission extends him a courtesy license.

'WE'LL WIN IF WE PLAY OUR GAME' SAYS OLIVER; ELEVEN EVENLY MATCHED

Interscholastic football's ever enthralling drama, the annual battle between Santa Ana Saint and San Diego Hilltopper, will be unfolded on the green floor of the huge San Diego stadium again tomorrow afternoon before the largest crowd that ever watched these rivals of 25 years play their "Big Game." The kickoff will be at 2:30.

Ten thousand worshippers at the shrine of King Football will sit in on this crucial contest that will have so much to say about the championship of the Coast Preparatory league which the principals jointly lead. A fourth of these will come from Santa Ana, traveling southward by special train, bus, motor, bicycle, perhaps hoof.

Members of both squads were in seclusion tonight, ordered by Coaches "Tex" Oliver and Hobbs Adams to remain quietly at home.

The Saint entourage of 50-odd will not head south until tomorrow morning and will not reach the stadium until just before game-time.

With the exception of Kent Martin, a blocking halfback who cracked his collar bone in the Pasadena game last week, every member of Oliver's white-jerseyed first string is in good shape.

The Saints will be able to put their full force on the field against San Diego. Important games with Glendale, Long Beach Poly and Fullerton remain unplayed but Santa Ana will hold nothing back tomorrow. The White Wave will "shoot the works"—and while its opposition will be stubborn and stern, stronger than any the Oliver-men have encountered this season—that should be enough to win.

Close Game Expected

As usual, Coach Oliver was disinclined to predict today.

Oliver has been irritable all week, and his disciples have been "touchy" too. Good actors often are before they give masterful performances. Old-timers say it is always a good sign when a team shows temperance.

"If we play the game of which we are capable I feel we should win," Coach Oliver said. "We expect a hard game. We are prepared for it. We have no fear of the so-called San Diego stadium 'jinx.' That is just hokum."

Coach Adams was equally non-committal in San Diego. He was likewise showing a bit of temperance. Spurning a set of brand new uniforms, he ordered his men to don the same old blue sweaters tomorrow they wore when they nosed out Santa Ana by a touchdown here last November.

Hilltoppers Respect Saints

"We know we are going to have a tough ball game," Adams said. "We are not going to be overconfident. We have a good defense and, we think, we have an equal chance to score the most points."

Neither Oliver nor Adams was willing to venture even a tentative starting lineup but from those close to "headquarters" it was learned that both coaches intend to come on with what they consider their strongest lineup.

Oliver had considered holding his brilliant back, Captain Al Reboin out of the starting list but understood to have abandoned such a plan.

Reboin will start at quarterback.

KID CHOCOLATE AND LA BARBA CLASH MONDAY

BY HENRY M'LEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The billboards don't say so, but the fight at Madison Square Garden Monday night between Kid Chocolate and Fidel La Barba really is a match for the featherweight championship of the world.

Although Bat Battalino holds the title of the 126-pound class, not even the Bat's closest friends would tell you the Hartford boy deserves the distinction. Put him in the same ring with Chocolate or La Barba, and Bat would be fortunate to escape with his head, much less his crown.

Battalino, since the night he won the title under extraordinary circumstances, to say the least, has devoted himself to overweight matches almost exclusively. Thus, he has held on to the championship despite many artistic lackings. The champion has been asked to come to New York and meet the winner of Monday's fight, but there is little chance of his doing so. For Battalino, whatever his prowess as a fighter, is not dumb.

The "Keed" and the California boy should give the 18,000 or 20,000 customers Tom Mcardie says will watch the scrap, a run for their money. And it is just as well, for after another dreary bout, boxing already groggy in this part of the woods, would be ready for the morgue.

IRVINE

IRVINE, Oct. 31.—A safety committee has been organized at the Irvine school. The officers are Calvin Sutton, president; Barbara Lambert, secretary; policemen, Abel Medina, Mrs. Parham's room; Helen Whitley and Eldon Morgan, Mrs. Bardwell's room; Dorothy Renders and Elwood Boosey, Mrs.

Montgomery's room; Lorraine Cox and Lee Ross, Mrs. Gardner's room.

The teachers from the El Toro school paid a visit at the school house Monday afternoon.

Willie Mae Patmor, of Los Angeles, who met her death in that city Monday, was a niece of W. I. Patmor, of Trabuco road.

A fire broke out in the Mexican camp belonging to the Irvine company on the Peters canyon road Tuesday evening, destroying most of the house.

Ransler Baker, Ray Lambert and Henry Boosey were among a group of men who enjoyed a venison dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tubach, of McFadden street, Santa Ana, Wednesday evening.

Miss Carrie Stone has been a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Newton, of the Clifard place, for several days.

Among the local people who attended the Shrine benefit dance at St. Ann's inn Tuesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Munger and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Mitchell.

SANTA ANA AND SAN DIEGO IN BIG GRID GAME TOMORROW

Rated as Santa Ana's greatest all-time back, "Audacious Al" will shoulder the burden of the Saint attack, an attack that is the most deadly any team has shown Santa Ana since Don Williams, Bart Cock and "Benny" Wilcox ran wild back in 1921.

Warburton Dangerous

There will be a "Rebott" in San Diego's backfield, too. His name is Irvine Warburton and he is known as "Cotton" because of his close-cropped, curly white hair. Warburton is supposed to be able to do everything Reboin does, and just as well. "Cotton" is the best prep quarter-back on the coast, so he is tremendously fleet footed. He is shifty, too. He passes far or short—accurately. He kicks fairly well. Warburton is San Diego's triple threat.

It will be Reboin against Warburton tomorrow, as well as Santa Ana versus San Diego, and if the two lines are anywhere near evenly matched the greatest offensive threat of the season should be spread before those 10,000 souls in the big, white Hilltop stadium. Reboin has never been stopped as a running back. He failed to score against Long Beach and again against San Diego last year, but it wasn't his fault. He made more than 100 yards in both games.

Saints Stopped 'Cotton'

Through superlative end play, Santa Ana stopped Warburton cold on running plays last season but couldn't keep the towhead from throwing a beautiful forward pass down the sidelines that went for a touchdown. That is one of Adams' best plays, and the Saints will have to be on the watch for it everytime San Diego lines up near the sidelines.

The great Reboin will team up with a better backfield than San Diego. It is believed Oliver will use big Harold Pangle at right halfback, strictly a blocking position, and employ Hideo Higashi and Don Crumley as the other members of the backfield corps. They are all good interference, and Oliver has stressed interference this year as never before. Pangle is regarded as the finest blocking back ever produced here. When he is leading the interference Santa Ana's offense has seldom failed to function.

Higashi is normally an end but he is so adept anywhere his coach places him that Oliver probably will send him to fullback on offense, letting the husky Pangle back up the line on defense.

Crumley Likely Starter

Crumley has been out of the game most of the season because of ankle injuries. He is a two-year veteran, however, and a fine defensive back. Starting a big game will not be as unusual for him as it might some of the Saints' other backs.

Another combination is altogether

possible, of course. If Oliver hesitates to start Jimmy Denerl, the track star, at right end he will put there the versatile Higashi, and that arrangement would force the coach to play Pangle at fullback and bring into action at the half-back stations either Crumley or Vincent Cox at one, and Fred Heli, Ralph Borden or "Red" Kidder, all comparatively fast but inexperienced men, at the other.

"Toy" Blower, who starred against San Diego last year, is sure to be one of the ends. He is such a good man on defense against passes that Oliver plans to have him change positions with Higashi if the Hilltoppers depend on an aerial game. Blower also will do most of the Saint kicking.

Lutz, Preininger Start

Lawrence Lutz and Joe Preininger will start at the tackles. Little considered early in the term, these two have improved tremendously in the past month until now they are rated as good at their positions as any in the league. They are both strong and aggressive, and faster than Santa Ana's tackles of recent years.

Dallas Reichstein, who plays a roving defense, and Garth Olsen will start at guard. They are particularly adept at blocking and help make the Saint wheels click on offense.

Roy Harvey will be at center. He was not seriously considered two months ago either, but his rapid improvement enabled Oliver to make a tackle out of the rugged Preininger who was to have been the Saint center. Harvey is small but active and tough, and well able to take care of himself at his position.

Oliver has better line reserves than usual this semester, too. "Gib" Meisinger, Tom Carlyle and Jimmy Lash are the ranking ends to Blower, Higashi and Denerl. Bill Donahue, Lee Hoffmaster and Glenn Minter understudy Preininger and Lutz, the tackles. Iard Runyan, Tom Beasley, Tom Cole, Willard Noe, Dawes Weber and Addison Bowers are all good substitute guards.

San Diego Shifts Backs

Minor Whitford is Harvey's understudy at center although Preininger can attend to that task too.

Coach Adams has made one major change in his lineup this week. He has shifted his captain, Ted Wilson, to fullback. Wilson had been used as a blocking halfback but the improvement of Cecil McElvain and Don Davis convinced the Hilltop mentor he would add to the efficiency of his wound by utilizing Wilson's ball-toting ability. Warburton will be at quarter.

Another uncertain position is center where three players, Lee, Giddings and Johnson, have been waging a warm fight. Giddings has gotten the nod for most of the games but Adams is said to be ready to start Johnson tomorrow. Whitley and Wallace will be at end, Burchard and Moore at tackle and Hall and May at guard.

Hall Best Guard in League
Hall is considered the best guard in the league. He is a 200-pounder and San Diego expects to make the most of his hole-opening ability.

Three other games of more or less consequence are scheduled for Coast league eleven this week, although Santa Ana and San Diego will draw the spotlight. Long Beach drawing its second bye of the season will transport its entire team to San Diego to scout both teams. The winner of the Saint-Hilltop affair still has to contend with Long Beach, defending league champion.

Alhambra, also undefeated, plays Woodrow Wilson at home. The Moore's big-score victory over Compton last week made Alhambra appear as a dangerous contender. Santa Ana does not play Alhambra this season but both Long Beach and San Diego do.

Compton goes to Fullerton and Glendale to Pasadena for other non-important contests. None of these teams are contenders.

BOWLING

The first of a series of three-game sweepstakes will be held at the Bowlers' Inn here Monday night. Harry Gaspar, proprietor, announced today. Several valuable prizes are guaranteed for this event which will be shot across six alleys. Total pins will count. Gaspar plans to hold sweepstakes every Monday.

Colder days will soon be here. The oil you used this summer should not be expected to fully protect your engine, any more than light summer clothing should be expected to protect you in the frosty days to come. Besides, that oil may have been exposed to considerable wear and mileage—enough to render it less than completely effective.

POETRY TOPIC OF ADDRESS AT ORANGE SCHOOL

ORANGE, Oct. 31.—Karl Knopf, of the University of California at Los Angeles, well known as a lecturer and scholar, was the speaker at the assembly of students of the Orange union high school yesterday, having as the topic of his address, the poet Virgil.

Two thousand years have passed since Virgil's birth, Knopf said, and the celebration of this anniversary has been arranged by the Phi Beta Kappa, national scholarship society, which was founded at William and Mary college in 1776.

The speaker called attention to the fact that this society, formed by a group of boys, is now the representative scholarship society in the United States. It is a pertinent fact, the speaker said, that the man who invented the cotton gin was a member of this society, the man who invented the telephone was also a member of it, as was the man who first reached the North Pole, the man who first flew over the South Pole and one in five of those in "Who's Who," as well as 40 per cent of those listed in the Hall of Fame.

"Don't think you fail to be a real 'he-man' because you go out for scholarship," the speaker said. "We all like poetry," Knopf declared. "We may not be conscious of this, but we all love rhythm. Poetry appeals to the emotions—it has a deep under current—poetry crystallizes in life."

That there is more of the real spirit of America in "My Country 'Tis of Thee," more of the spirit of international brotherhood in Kipling's "East is East," than there would be in volumes written around either subject, was an assertion made by the lecturer. Virgil had the usual education of the boys of his time, Knopf said. He studied rhetoric, music and Greek. One of his first poems was written about his teacher who he said tried "to hammer in the heads of youth, dull rules of grammar." The poet was handicapped in life by his health which was poor, the speaker said. Virgil spent seven years on one poem and 11 years on another, Knopf said, and if he returned to earth today he would find in Italy 10 issues of postage stamps bearing his picture, he would find trees in Naples, where his body lies, which are being planted in his memory, he would find the whole world honoring him. The speaker was introduced by the school principal, A. Haven Smith.

MODEL SHIP OF ORANGE MAN IS ON EXHIBITION

ORANGE, Oct. 31.—Bert Hagerman has on exhibition in the window of the Orange Savings bank, a ship model, which is attracting much attention owing to the careful detail with which it is made. The ship is fully rigged and all of the tiny levers by means of which the sails are furled or unfurled, really do the work assigned them. Tiny wheels to lower the cargo into the hold of the ship turn smoothly on tiny axis.

Every miniature rope of which there are many is exactly in its correct position and from stern to bow the model is said to be perfect by those who know the way a ship should be built.

The ship is three masted and lock-outs are built in the masts. The rudder may be manipulated and small life-boats hang on the davits. Cabins and hatches are built on the deck.

Yellow dahlias and bronze chrysanthemums were used as decorations, while a large rose of yellow crepe paper was placed in the center of the table, where two white cakes decorated with orange and black icing each topped with 10 twinkling candles were served with other goodies.

The happy hours of the afternoon were spent playing miniature golf, with Miss Barbara Robinson carrying away first prize while Miss Audrey Hancock was consoled. Both Miss Jost and Miss Smith received many pretty remembrances from their friends.

Present besides the honorees were the Misses Dorothy Alma Gray, Virginia Shuter, Audrey Collins, Pauline Stearns, Barbara Robinson, Doris Smith, Bernice Emory, Sue Conway, Helen Hofer, Marjory Groover, Catherine Sutherland, Hazel Bergee, Audrey Hancock, Eva Bergee, Emma Naponelli, Mrs. Luther Barnett, Mrs. G. There May be Poison in YOUR Bowels!

STEP out tomorrow morning with the fresh buoyancy and briskness that comes from a clean intestinal tract. Syrup Pepsin—a doctor's prescription for the bowels—will help you do this. This compound of fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other pure ingredients will clean you out thoroughly—without griping, sickening or discomfort.

Poisons absorbed into the system form souring waste in the bowels, cause that dull, headachy, sluggish, bilious condition; coat the tongue; foul the breath; sap energy, strength and nerve-force. A little of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will clear up trouble like that, gently, harmlessly, in a hurry. The difference it will make in your feelings over night will prove its merit to you.

Dr. Caldwell studied bowel troubles for forty-seven years. This long experience enabled him to make his prescription just what men, women, old people and children need to make their bowels help themselves. Its natural, mild, thorough action and its pleasant taste commend it to everyone. That's why "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," as it is called, is the most popular laxative drugstore sell.

A big pumpkin with a grotesquely carved face filled the fireplace, while above on the mantle tall black and yellow candles cast a flickering light.

Chrysanthemums in deep yellow tones were used in the decorations and tallies for the bridge game carried out the seasonal motif. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shaffner made high score. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibbs, second high, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Schulz were consoled. All received attractive pieces of crystal.

Refreshments were served at the close of the bridge game and the lovely black crystal which was one of the wedding presents given Mr. and Mrs. Lampert the occasion of their marriage, late this summer, was used in serving the two course supper.

Good Will Caravan Of 60 Planes Due Here Sunday

TOUR TO BRING 120 VISITORS TO SANTA ANA

An airplane caravan of 60 planes, of all shapes and sizes, and carrying 120 visitors from points throughout the state of California will be in Santa Ana Sunday.

The ships are the planes of the second annual California good will tour being sponsored by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce and the California chapter of the United States Aeronautical association. Dudley M. Steele, manager of the department of aviation of the Richmond Oil company and Emory Bronte, of the Associated Oil company, have direct charge of the caravan.

The planes will arrive here in droves sometime between noon and 2 p. m. Sunday and will land at the Eddie Martin airport, at the end of South Main street, where they can be seen by persons who come to the field. The caravan is returning from San Diego to Los Angeles, after making a tour of virtually all of the state, going as far north as Red Bluff and to San Diego at the southern end of the state.

The route north from Los Angeles was up the coast and the planes returned to the Southland via the valley route. This explains why they did not come to Santa Ana on the way to San Diego.

According to Eddie Martin, the entire caravan of planes will be in Santa Ana for more than an hour Sunday afternoon, where refueling, together with several spectacular flights, will be made.

It is the largest caravan of its kind in the history of American aviation, and certainly the largest number of planes ever to come as visitors to the city. The purpose of the flight among other things is to show the progress being made in air travel and to encourage quantity air travel, it was said.

Among the planes is a cabin ship filled with newspaper men from the metropolitan dailies. It is equipped with typewriters and wireless, and daily stories have been sent out concerning the tour to the larger California newspapers.

Scores of trucks with all kinds of gasoline and oil representing the various oil companies interested in the flight will meet the planes here for the purpose of refueling them.

Radio-telephone service between Paris and the Dutch East Indies was inaugurated recently.

TAKES LEAD

Appearing as the "glass of fashion and the mould of form," Earl Fraser, prominent pianist of the community, last night added dramatic laurels to his crown by playing the leading role of "Marlow" in Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer," presented in Ebell auditorium by Santa Ana Community Players. The entertaining comedy will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night, as the opening play of the season.

FRIENDS CLAIM ABBEY TRAINED FOR POSITION

The campaign of Earl R. Abbey, candidate for county treasurer, has a distinction all its own, Abbey's friends pointed out today, by reason of the fact that he has had special training for public service.

A particularly strong appeal on the ground of efficiency and experience has been made on behalf of Abbey, whose campaign has rested chiefly on those planks.

Abbey has had a long association with county affairs and combines it with a broad previous business experience. He formerly was manager of the Pacific Telephone company at Anaheim and later was publisher of a newspaper in that city.

For the last 12 years, since he has entered county service as a deputy county clerk, Abbey has been working up through subordinate roles, carefully preparing himself for the opportunity that now presents itself of filling a public office.

His supporters, contending that he is "ready" for the job, appeal for his election as a matter of fair play and good business judgment.

CHARM SEEN IN PRODUCTION BY LOCAL PLAYERS

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

At the risk of using a word that is said to be sadly over-worked by social writers, motion picture publicity agents, and their ilk, one is compelled to say that "She Stoops to Conquer" as presented by the local players last night in the Ebell auditorium, was distinguished by a marked charm, for no other word so completely expresses that intangible spirit that last night swept local players last night in the Ebell auditorium stage, and held in its grasp, one of the largest first night audiences ever assembled for the opening production of the local players.

Pretty Kate Hardcastle, "My sweet Kate" of her adoring father, Hardcastle, himself pompous, as an English country gentleman has the right to be; Mrs. Hardcastle, emotional, a trifle vain, longing for the excitement of London, fondly fond of her son Tony; Tony too, roistering, blustering, fond of stout ale and red-cheeked barnards; Young Marlow, quite the Beau Brummel in appearance, brave to the point of boldness in his contacts with maids in humbler walks of life, but tongue-tied and ill at ease when thrown with those of his station; Miss Neville with her tangled destinies; Hastings, her devoted lover; Sir Charles Marlow, eager to ally his family with that of his oldest friend, thus making their ties hereditary, all these delightful characters of Oliver Goldsmith's well known and well loved comedy, drama of early English country life, lived again upon a modern stage last night, when Santa Ana Community Players looked to the older classics for their opening production of the 1930-31 season, "She Stoops to Conquer."

Of what was the play's charm compounded?

In the matter of settings first of all, nothing could have been more delightful than the effect achieved on the stage by the use of quaint old rosewood and mahogany furniture, carved divans, tables, heavily upholstered chairs, all bespeaking that solidity and permanence of the period in question. The curtain background lent itself admirably to the effect, and amazingly so in the taproom scene in the inn, where a simplicity of style offered only the wide table with its benches and rude chairs, and the cheerful blaze from a great fireplace. This was one of the most effective scenes imaginable, but was rivaled by that of the garden in the last act, wherein the scene was played amidst such subdued lights that its suggestion of trees, country lanes and shrubbery was mesmeric in its effect, until the whole thing was visualized by an active mind.

Then the costumes were so pleasing. Of course the period (1770) in which the play was laid, contributed our most attractive era of lace ruffles, satin coats and "small clothes," and glistening white wigs for the men, laced bodices, ruffled skirts and panniers for the women, and the costume committee of the Players certainly achieved a remarkable richness and beauty by

TO HONOR SOLOIST FOR 20 YEARS' SERVICE IN CHURCH

The friends of Maurice C. Phillips will be interested in the morning service at the First Congregational church next Sunday. At that time the church is to have a special musical service in recognition of 20 years service in the church, by Phillips.

On the last Sunday of October, 1910, Phillips, newly arrived from North Adams, Mass., began as bass soloist in the Congregational choir. He has sung in that same church, regularly, for 20 years. For many years the choir consisted of a mixed quartet. Various singers for the other parts came and went but Phillips sang on.

A few years ago a chorus choir supplanted the quartet but Phillips remained as bass soloist.

At the service next Sunday morning, Phillips will sing a solo. Robert Brown also will appear on the program as guest soloist. The chorus choir will give two anthems.

The Congregational church is exceptional in its record for long terms of service. Last Easter Alan A. Revill, organist and director of the choir, celebrated his twentieth anniversary with that church. The minister, The Rev. Parry Frederick Schrock, is just completing his sixteenth year in the church.

TO GIVE TALK AT CHURCH ON PASSION PLAY

The famous Passion play of Oberammergau will be the subject of a lecture to be given at the assembly period of the school of missions at the First Presbyterian church next Sunday at 7 p. m. The lecture is to be made by Miss Lulu M. Minter, who spent last summer in Europe and who was in attendance at the famous play, which is given every 10 years.

Miss Minter will describe the play, the people and customs of the village, and will illustrate her talk with motion pictures of village life which she took while in Oberammergau.

This is the third of a series of lectures given at the sessions of the school of missions. There was an attendance of 481 at the school last Sunday night. The friendship tea will be held at the church at 5:15 p. m., followed by the class periods at six o'clock and the assembly at seven.

er courtly and "at home" in the part, that one would like to see what he would do in other productions.

Olinnae Enlow Matthews laid aside her magic violin bow, to don the simple costume and manner of a serving maid and while it was a minor role it seemed absolutely essential to the success of the play, especially as Mrs. Matthews presented it. Nor was she alone in portraying a small but effective role remarkably well, for there was a group of young men who added their talents and community spirit to establish the convincings of the story.

They took such minor roles as servants and rollicking companions of "Tony" and were Harold Feunquay as "Digory," Victor Morrison as the conniving "Landlord," Austin Lawless as "Roger," Duncan Harlow as "Thomas," and Robert White as "Jeremy," all vastly amusing especially in "Jeremy's" scene with his master, and the other three when instructed in their unaccustomed duties as house-servants.

Adding atmosphere to the production were the lovely airs of the olden time, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," a Beethoven "Minuet," and various other selections, played by that talented trio of young people, Miss Betty Smalley, piano; Miss Mary Henrietta Nau, flute, and her brother, Marion Nau, violin, the latter a pupil of Elwood Bear, and all representing the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music.

"She Stoops to Conquer" will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night on the Ebell stage, with the curtain rising at 8:15 o'clock.

MONROE OPENS NEW DRUG STORE HERE

Bruce Monroe, well known Santa Ana druggist, today opened a new drug store in the Santa Ana market at Fairview and South Main streets.

In celebration of this event many "grand opening" features have been planned at the market. Joe Peterson, who has owned the grocery store in the market since its opening and recently has secured ownership of the meat market and vegetable department, has joined with Monroe on this occasion by holding a food show today and tomorrow.

Many demonstrations and unusual events have been planned to provide interest for the many Santa Ana residents who will visit the market.

BARNHILL NOW STAGING FINAL VOTE CAMPAIGN

Closing a campaign in which he has made it a point to cover almost every block in the entire city of Santa Ana, Vernon Barnhill, police officer for the past 10 years, will wind up his fight for the office of constable of the Santa Ana township this week, confident that his efforts have not been in vain, according to a statement made by him today.

Friends of Barnhill are predicting that the race, close at the start and through the primaries, will continue to be close in the finals, but can see many indications which they believe can only mean that he will be elected.

Capable and with a knowledge of police work that comes only with years of training, Barnhill's experience has particularly fitted him for the office of constable, his workers point out to the voters. He was a member of the state traffic squad here until several weeks ago, when on advice of his physician, he was forced to resign due to the fact that the state demanded that all state officers be able to ride motorcycles. Barnhill was injured and since that time, motorcycle riding has proven too strenuous for his health.

Barnhill's record as a police officer in Santa Ana, as a city officer, and as a state traffic officer in the county has been outstanding. He has figured in several well known cases, where quick thinking and police intuitiveness meant the apprehension of the man wanted, while his disposition, and his ability to make friends have made him one of the most popular officers in the city.

HouseholdTwo Young Hostesses
Preside at Merry
Costume Party

Two of Santa Ana's most charming young girls, Miss Marian Riley and Miss Mary Majors, were hostesses at a delightful Halloween party recently, entertaining in the home of the latter's parents at 2412 Heliotrope drive. Their mothers, Mrs. Harry D. Riley and Mrs. E. R. Majors assisted.

The affair was a masquerade, and many were the attractive characters represented. Games and contests of the evening found appropriate setting in the spacious rooms of the Majors' home. Bright-hued flowers added their colorful note to the lovely scene.

Family Dinner Was Charming Affair
Of Last Night

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Paustell and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Cummings joined in a happy little dinner party arranged for their families last night, and held in the Cummings' home at 1702 West Ninth street.

Orange and white chrysanthemums decked the rooms, and table decorations centered around a huge pumpkin gleaming with candles. Nut cups and place cards evidenced the brilliant color scheme. Halloween games occupied the hours following the delectable dinner.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Paustell and daughter, Marguerite and Mr. and Mrs. Cummings and daughters Dorothy Darlene and Betty Roselyn.

Phillips-Epp Wedding Was Lovely Event
Of Last Night

Santa Ana First Christian church provided a lovely setting last night for the wedding of one of the most popular young women of the church membership, Miss Lizzetta Phillips, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Phillips, 1014 North Ross street, and Frank Edward Epp of Los Angeles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Epp of Cleveland, Ohio. Life-long friends who have watched the bride grow from childhood into a gracious young womanhood, thronged the church and Sunday school rooms to see her pledge to the young Ohioan in a beautiful ceremony arranged especially for them by the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan.

The effective white, green and gold decorations had been arranged by Miss Blanche Cartmell assisted by Willard Brady and Mrs. Fred Pierce. Aisles were arched with ferns and chrysanthemums amidst which were placed twinkling tapers in white and gold. At the altar, two yellow and great fluffy bronze ones, were in glowing contrast to the palm and fern background.

Ethel Ogilvie Briggs presided at the organ playing Nevins' Venetian Love Song, Automation Valse, composed by the bride, and the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches, in addition to "I Love You Truly" as the ceremony was conducted. Additional musical numbers were Miss Etta Mae Conkle's solos, "All For You" by Bertrand Brown, and "Because" by D'Hardelot, and violin numbers by Loren Cannon, the Serenade from Romberg's "Student Prince," and "A Dream" by Bartlett.

Miss Della L. Shafer of Huntington Beach, and Mrs. H. W. Leeding, Phi Zeta sisters of the bride, escorted guests to their seats. Miss Shafer wore coral satin, and Mrs. Leeding chose eggshell tones. Each wore a corsage of Ophelia roses.

Mr. Epp was attended by Jack Kahler as best man, while Mrs. Kahler, gowned in pale yellow satin with gold slippers, served Miss Phillips as honor matron, and Miss Della Marie Phillips acted as maid of honor, wearing Nile-green satin and silver slippers. Each carried baby gladioluses and pompon dahlias in yellow, apricot and bronze hues, tied with wide taffeta ribbons to match their costumes. Each wore also, the pretty bridal gift of Miss Phillips.

Black-eyed little Mary Patricia Coffey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olwen Coffey of Alhambra, and a niece of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Knights, made an adorable flower girl in her delicate pink ruffled frock, and carried a formal nosegay whose rosebuds she separated to drop in the path of the bride.

Miss Phillips, entering the arm of her father, was truly lovely in her gown of delicate color tone rather than the traditional white. She had chosen the palest imaginable tint of rose for the chiffon of the bodice which blended into the ivory of the rich Chantilly lace skirt sweeping to her pink satin slippers. The desirable touch of blue was given by wee forget-me-nots embroidered underneath the Chantilly-edged shawl collar of chiffon. The flowing tulle veil bordered with bow-knots from the head-dress worn by her mother at her own wedding a quarter century ago, was of the same delicate shell-pink and her great cluster of perfect bride roses, was tied with floating laces. Her sole ornament was the hand-carved ivory rose and slender golden chain which was the gift of the groom.

At the reception following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips entertained members of the wedding party and a few family friends in their home, honoring the new Mr. and Mrs. Epp. Mrs. Phillips was gowned in dark-pink chiffon and lace, and her mother, Mrs. Burton, wore ivory silk.

The home was colorful with great golden mums, while pink blossoms prevailed in the dining-room where the young people cut their special cakes. Mrs. Epp's in white and pink roses, and Mr. Epp's in pink and white roses. Sweetheart lies bearing golden hearts, were served with the cakes. Mrs. J. H. Ross assisted in the dining-room.

The young people left late in the evening, Mrs. Epp wearing a rose silk gown and fitted model coat in ivory crepe, with rose felt hat and ivory slippers and gloves. They will be at home after November 15 at 5935 Miramonte boulevard, Los Angeles, deferring a lengthy honeymoon until next spring when they will go to Cleveland to visit Mr. Epp's parents.

Arts and Crafts
Section Formed

Organizing an "Arts and Crafts" section, a group of members of Santa Ana Woman's club met yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Harvey P. Riggie at 723 Orange avenue. While a number of those present worked on quilt blocks, others were busy with their needlework or at making flowers.

It was planned to paint pottery at the next meeting which will be held in two weeks. At the conclusion of the afternoon the hostess served light refreshments. Mrs. Riggie is chairman of the Arts and Crafts section.

OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. James McMillan of this community, yesterday celebrated their golden wedding day in their friendly ranch home, by welcoming relatives and friends during the afternoon and evening hours. The bridegroom of 50 years ago, finds his ranching activities in decided but enjoyable contrast to the venturesome seafaring life which he led when first starting out in the world from his native Scottish heath.

RANCH HOME WAS SETTING FOR GOLDEN WEDDING PARTY

Happily established on a 51-acre ranch eight miles from Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. James McMillan yesterday celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in their lovely country home. A host of friends thronged the home from one until four o'clock in the afternoon, and shared in making the day a memorable one for the devoted couple.

Relatives arrived in the evening, when a delightful family reunion was experienced. Among those present were five of Mr. and Mrs. McMillan's daughters and sons, Mrs. Agnes Taggart of Long Beach, Miss Grace McMillan, Mrs. L. chel Bower, and Donald McMillan of this city, and James McMillan of Fullerton. Gorgeous clusters of yellow chrysanthemums formed an attractive setting for the affair of the afternoon and evening.

It was on October 30, 1880, that Mr. and Mrs. McMillan were wed. Both were natives of Campbelltown, Scotland. He was a seaman of the most seasoned variety, traveling in the fascinations of storm and wind. At an early age he engaged in coast trade of England, Ireland and Scotland, and after following it for years became a deep water sailor. His first expedition took him across the Atlantic to Rio Platte, South America, as a merchant sailor. Continuing, he went further south to Cape Horn and Falkland Islands. He made trips to Valencia, Spain, hauling guano and copper ore. Eventually he went to Hong Kong, China, through the Suez Canal, and sailed up and down the Yellow Sea, engaged in the Chinese trade.

Mr. McMillan next shipped on a colonial brig, and for several years engaged in the Chinese coast trade, a truly dangerous occupation. China was finally abandoned for the San Francisco coast trade which he followed for many years, eventually becoming pilot at Newport landing, in the employment of the Pacific Coast Steamship company and McFadden Brothers. He became a famous life saver of Newport Landing, and it was while at this port that he and Mrs. McMillan were married. Later they purchased the 51-acre ranch where they now make their home.

At the conclusion of games of five hundred, desirable prizes were awarded to Mrs. James P. Ryan and Tom Brooks, holders of high score. Late in the evening, refreshments of sandwiches, fruit jello, cake, candies and coffee, were served at the card tables. Those sharing Mrs. Arnold's hospitality included Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mahan, honor guests; Messrs. and Mesdames Tom Brooks, L. E. House, George Edmundson, George Ray, James P. Ryan, Mrs. Minnie Solter, Miss Mary Belle Arnold and Milton Arnold.

Carnival Dance and Card Party Was Big Success

A festive note which began with the first strains of the "Club Orchestra" and continued until the concluding feature when confetti, caps, horns and other favors were distributed, marked last night's dance in the Knights of Pythias hall given under the auspices of Damascus White Shrine. An atmosphere of friendliness prevailed, and each of the many special dances found a representative group of participants.

No doubt the charmingly arranged setting inspired much of the gaiety, for Halloween was evidenced in very nook and corner. Orchestra members, with James Merigold and R. E. Barnes as directors, played in the midst of a platform decked with cornstalks and pepper boughs. Ballroom lights were decked with streamers, and down the hallway where a dimly lighted room was devoted to fortune telling, miniature fires blazed beneath bright-hued papers. Mrs. Jacob Bolander was the palmist who proved herself exceptionally accurate. Mrs. Robertson was the mystic while Mrs. Charles Ryan read cards.

Several tables of cards were in progress, and at the conclusion of the evening prizes were given to high scorer at each table. Card rooms were in charge of Mrs. Marian Wallace and Mrs. Maude Swarthout. Punch was served throughout the evening, and was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Okey Jemison.

The white elephant booth proved a source of much enjoyment. Sales returns from this feature and fees from the "lemon" dance added a neat little sum to the proceeds of the evening. There were a number of special dances, and in a prize waltz Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hyde were awarded first place and Mrs. Kenneth Burns and Roy Langley second. W. W. Berry received the door prize of the evening.

Several of those attending availed themselves of the opportunity to wear costume, and mingling in the crowd were a baker with characteristic mien, a pirate, Spanish caballeros, and other characters associated with Halloween.

The grand march came as a climax to the evening's pleasure, and was led by Mrs. H. G. Lewis, worthy high priestess of Damascus White Shrine and W. B. McConnell, general chairman for the affair. Dancing was in charge of Mrs. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Dean, and the delightful decorative effect was achieved by Mrs. James Vincent and her committee. The white elephant booth was supervised by Mr. and Mrs. James Armstrong and Charles H. Ryan.

For
troubles

FUSSY, fretful . . . of course babies are uncomfortable at teething time! And mothers are worried because of the little upsets which come so suddenly then. But there's one sure way to comfort a restless, teething child. Castoria — made especially for babies and children! It's perfectly harmless, as the formula on the wrapper tells you. It's mild in taste and action. Yet it rights little upsets with a never-failing effectiveness.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given to tiny infants—as often as there is need. In cases of colic and similar disturbances, it is invaluable. But it has every-day uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever older children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset, a more liberal dose of this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Something New In Appetizers
Do you ever get to the point where you could pronounce a curse on the originator of the fruit cocktail?

This seems to be the one and only appetizer women think of when they are planning a "company" dinner, and after the poor guests have eaten a dozen of them, they do get discouraged when another one stares them in the face—being guests, of course, they have to eat and like it.

Why not be different and serve a hot savory for your next little dinner party? Here is one that is easy to make and grand to eat.

Some time during the day wrap stuffed olives in a shred of thin bacon, fasten with a toothpick (four olives per person). Put them in the ice box until ready to broil. The second part of the savory is made by toasting thin rounds of bread, one round for each portion, this covered with tasty creamed tuna fish, garnished with minced parsley and a dash of paprika.

The bacon wrapped olives can be broiled while the toast is being made, the creamed tuna can be made and kept hot in a double boiler, and it takes but a minute to bring the hot tuna fish with its olive garnish to the table while someone else announces dinner.

BUCK JONES OPENS AT WALKER TODAY

Audiences want action, action and more action, theater managers everywhere say. Which is probably why Buck Jones the Western star has flashed into new prominence.

The smiling, handsome cowboy actor and his famous horse are known all over the world. He can be depended on, with his natural verve and daring feats of horsemanship to set hearts pounding and hands clutching the sides of seats from the first flash of the picture to the last.

Film-goers will find that he has exceeded himself to meet a great new demand for thrills in his latest feature, "Shadow Ranch," now at Walker's State theater. Expert riding, gun-fights, hand-to-hand combats and spectacular stunts fill this outdoor drama, with an unusual love story and a liberal sprinkling of hilarious comedy. Buck is surrounded by a well-known cast of players including Marguerite De La Motte, Kate Price and Frank Rice.

LA HABRA

Miss Naomi Jay, of Pasadena, spent the week end as the guest of Miss Durelle Williams.

The meeting will begin at 2 o'clock and the annual fruit shower for missionary work will be held. Reports will be made by local delegates of the recent missionary meeting in Hollywood.

Add the butter, season it and serve.

Nothing is said here about the amount of water used, if any. But being a soup I assume water has been used, and the amount you will decide on when you make the soup.

There are generous servings for four in this recipe whose calory total is a mere 785. Calories are not the chief consideration here however.

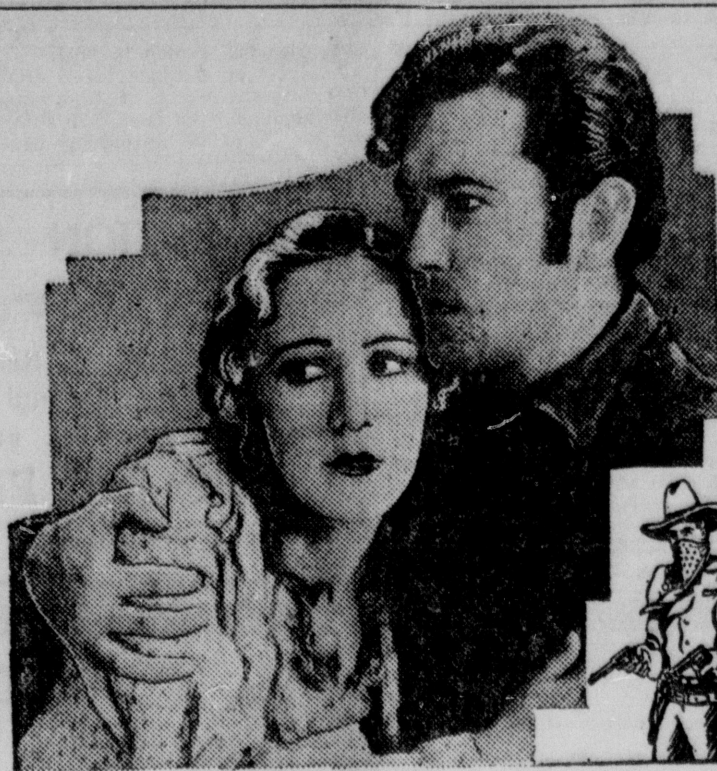

Vitamins and the vital mineral salts are what make this soup such a fine thing for growing children. Give them plenty of bran bread and butter and a baked apple with cream for dessert and they will be well fed children.

While the children are having their vitamins, their elders will be adding to their pulchritudinous damon by eating pie made from some of the MINCE MEAT recipes they will find in the leaflet offered this week. Just send along a stamped, self-addressed envelope, too.

Fresh Eggs will be the subject of tomorrow's lesson.

OPENS HERE TODAY

EDDIE QUILLAN SEEN HERE TONIGHT ONLY

That easy money usually turns out to be the hardest kind of money, is convincingly brought out in "Big Money," a Pathe comedy drama featuring Eddie Quillan, Robert Armstrong, James Gleason, Miriam Seegar and Margaret Livingston, which comes to the Fox West Coast theater today only.

Eddie innocently becomes involved in a high-powered professional crap game and wins a fortune. Then his troubles begin. He learns to his sorrow that he is prominently mixed up in gangland warfare, and almost loses his neck, as well as his girl and fortune before he gets out of the racket.

Russell Mack directed. Others in the imposing cast include Dorothy Christy, Robert Edeson and Robert Gleckler.

The regular feature also will be shown at the theater today. It is "Reno," which opened at the Fox West Coast theater yesterday and is seen for the last times today.

HUNTINGTON BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Marshall have returned from a 7000-mile auto trip and vacation spent largely visiting Mr. Marshall's relatives in Kentucky and Tennessee. On the trip east they visited points in Arkansas and crossed the Mississippi river at the Tennessee-Arkansas line. Clarence Hield, former Southern California Edison manager at Huntington Beach, now with the same company at Pomona, was in Huntington Beach Thursday. Baby Benno, resident of Seal Beach and student at the Huntington Beach high school, suffered a broken collar bone in a football game played at the school Monday. Benno was taken to the emergency hospital where his injury was treated by Dr. Ralph E. Hawes. He will be unable to engage in athletics for the remainder of the year.

Friends of Roy White and Pat Osborn, who have been engaged in an oil development project in the inland area north of Los Angeles, where they hold a large territory under lease, welcomed them home with a house warming October 25 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. White, 624 Alabama avenue. A delicious dinner was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Hadley Pryor and sons, Dean and John; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Osborn and daughter, Ethel; Mr. and Mrs. D. R. White and son, Russell, and daughter, Genevieve; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Patrick and sons, Charles, Kenneth and Lawrence and Jack Thompson.

Mrs. Cliff King and Mrs. Fred Osburn spent Tuesday in Long Beach on business.

Mrs. Julia Collins, of Long Beach, spent Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Patrick. Mrs. Collins is Mr. Patrick's sister.

Austin Channess is confined to his home with a slight attack of influenza.

Mrs. B. W. Hardy returned Monday from a two months delightful trip that included Phila-

BARBER CITY

BARBER CITY, Oct. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Cochran, Jr., co-proprietors with Mr. Cochran's parents in the Barber City service station, are the parents of a seven and a half pound daughter, born October 30 at the Anaheim hospital. The baby has been named Fern Marjorie Cochran.

Mr. and Mrs. McArthur and their four children have arrived from Portal, N. D., and have been visiting with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Hilburn and family and with Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Olson, who are old friends of the family in North Dakota, where all resided in the same town. Mr. and Mrs. McArthur have now gone to Long Beach, where they will remain a month until the Walter Rhea house, which they have leased, is vacated. The family will then come here to make their home and the children will enter the Westminster school. Mr. McArthur once spent two years as a member of the Olson family.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stokes have with them Mr. Stokes' father, Jerome H. Stokes, who arrived last Saturday from Arizona to make his home with them this winter. Mr. Stokes sr., visited in California last two years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rosengrant, of Long Beach, were recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Winslow.

Two additional rooms, a bedroom and bath, are being added to the apartments at the rear of the Barber City service station. Mr. and Mrs. Cochran sr., occupy the apartment.

BUENA PARK

BUENA PARK, Oct. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Story and children left Wednesday for a trip to Colorado and points east.

Mrs. Ruth Kennison was brought to the home of her mother, Mrs. Goss, on West Eleventh street this week from the Pullerton General hospital, where she recently underwent an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Neal, of Huntington Park, were visiting relatives in Buena Park Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Warren and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McComber were among those from Buena Park who attended the Christmas charity ball given by the Orange County Shrine club at St. Ann's Inn in Santa Ana Tuesday evening. Mrs. Warren won the second prize for women in bridge. Analysis of samples taken from the different parts of the water district during the past year shows the water to be absolutely pure.

This report was requested by the board of water district after a case of typhoid fever had developed on Western avenue several months ago.

THE MAN WITH THE "HAIR-TRIGGER" TEMPER

He was irritable at the office, and grouchy at home. His enemies increased, his friends became fewer. Then one day his doctor told him the truth. He had been handicapped by constipation for years. It had brought headaches and constantly irritating ills to make him "touchy." It had stolen his energy and good nature.

His doctor suggested eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly. And in a few days he was a changed man, cheery, ambitious — and on the road to success and happiness.

Two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily are guaranteed to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. Use this natural method and avoid the dangers of habit-forming pills and drugs.

Serve ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, with fruits or honey added. Use in cooking too. Sold by all grocers in the familiar red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
Improved in Texture and Taste

Air hasn't a chance to destroy the fresh flavor of HILLS BROS COFFEE

The vacuum-packing process used by Hills Bros. removes all the air from the can and keeps it out. In so-called air-tight tins coffee invariably loses its flavor, because there is air inside the can. The vacuum pack keeps Hills Bros. Coffee fresh. The can is easily opened with the key.

Controlled Roasting gives Hills Bros. Coffee a flavor no other coffee has.

Coming to your table as the crisp brown crust on foods you fry.

Snowdrift

made of oil as good to eat as a fine salad oil...

and nothing else

WHAT you use for frying makes the crust. The crispness and flavor of the crust determines the goodness of fried food.

That's why it is nice to know that the Wesson Oil people make Snowdrift of an oil as pure and delicious as a choice salad oil . . . and nothing else.

Snowdrift helps you follow the good advice "fry hot to fry well"—because you can heat Snowdrift to the correct frying temperature and even above, without having it burn.

And Snowdrift stays sweet and pure. It comes to you sealed in an air-tight pail that keeps it as fresh as the day it was made.

U. S. CORN IN AFRICA
American Indian corn is being adopted generally in Africa. It was taken to Africa by white planters several years ago and is now being adopted by native growers to take the place of some sorghums.

NEW YORK CURE

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(UP)—The confusion prevailing on the curb exchange in the last few sessions continued today. Prices fluctuated irregularly in a narrow range. Traders displayed little inclination to make commitments in either direction, shorts being cautious as a result of the fact that price recessions in declines have generally been followed by sharp recoveries, while operators for the advance were disappointed over the failure of the list to follow up rallies in recent sessions.
Leading public utility stocks ruled lower on further selling and fractional declines in place in American Gas, American Superpower, Electric Bond and Share, Cities Service and United Light A.
A better tone was in evidence in the investment trusts, with Underwriters, Goldman Sachs and Fenimore moving up fractions on a quiet demand.
Oils continued weak, Vacuum losing more than one point, while Gulf and Standard of Indiana eased fractions. In the general list, Zonite was under pressure, dropping more than a point.

NEW YORK BONDS

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(UP)—Railroad securities continued to dominate trading on the bond market today and most carrier issues advanced to higher ground, while other obligations fluctuated for the most part in a narrow range.
Second grade railroads rallied under leadership of International Great Northern 6s which rose three points and Chicago & Eastern Illinois 5s which moved up nearly 2 points. Among the high grade and standard carriers, trading was active and small gains were made by a long list of issues. In the domestic traction group, Interborough 6s and Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit 6s score fractional gains.
In the foreign department, South American obligations were dull and lower. Chile 5s led a decline with a point loss. European issues sold slightly under previous closing levels, with Ferman 5 1/2s holding against the trend with a 1/2 point gain. United States government bonds were fractionally higher.
In trading, other sections were quiet. Warner-Quincy 6s receded to new low ground on a loss of 2 points. In the Amusement list, Erie 7s further advanced 1/2 point, while General Theaters 6s sold off fractionally. Utilities continued to rule steady.

CHICAGO BD OF TRADE

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—(UP)—Liquidation of December wheat by long sent the market sharply lower on the Board of Trade today. Weakness in stocks and in corn were contributing factors in the decline. There was some support from cash houses but no aggressive buying. May and July corn went to new lows on the crop in a very weak market. All deliveries of oats set new low marks. At the close, wheat was 1 1/2 to 1c lower, corn was 1 1/2 to 1c lower, and oats were 1 1/2 to 1c lower. Provisions were steady to weak, October lard being slightly higher.

SOMEWHAT OF A PREDICAMENT

In the revolution in Brazil, our State Department bet on the wrong horse, and lost out. By order of the State Department permission was given to ship arms for the aid of the existing government in Brazil, and shipment was forbidden to the rebels. $12,000,000, in payment of the arms shipped to the Brazilian government, arrived in New York the very day the rebels under Vargas took over the government, and took the president, Washington Luiz, and the president-elect, Jules Prestes, prisoners. The new government immediately made a claim for the money shipped as the property of the Brazilian people.

Here is a pretty mess. Our state department has taken the position that it will not recognize governments in Central and South America which have attained power through violent revolution. We have already recognized such a government in Argentina. There was some show of reason for that, because the government of Irigoyen, which was overthrown, had been unfriendly to the United States, while the new government started out immediately to resume friendly relations with us. But in Brazil, we are in the predicament,—by permitting the sale of arms to the government overthrown,—of having worked against the government which is now in control, and which will undoubtedly continue in control. It is with that government that we shall have to deal; and in view of the debts of Brazil to United States' citizens it is highly desirable that amicable relations between them should exist.

The matter will in all probability be fixed up; but somebody will have to eat a little crow, and it will not be the officials of Brazil. And somebody will need to forget some things, and that somebody will be those who obtained the control of the government in Brazil against the moral force directly, and the physical force indirectly, of the United States.

ERADICATING WAR MEMORIES

Several days ago it was noted that Greece and Turkey had determined to disregard formerly observed holidays which engendered bad feeling between the two countries, in other words holidays which were celebrations of former military victories in wars between the two countries.

The British government has taken a step toward "eradication of the memories of the Great war." It has suggested to all governments through the Foreign Office in London that during official visits to capitals of the former allies memorial wreaths should not be placed on the tombs of the unknown soldiers or other war memorials. The proposal would apply to foreign visitors to London and to British official guests in other capitals.

The movement in Greece and Turkey and the one in Great Britain are really quite different. It is one thing to keep alive the hatred and bitterness of wars, it is another thing to keep alive the lesson learned in the Great war that wars are costly of all those things human beings value most.

The surest lessons learned are those learned through trial and error. The Great war taught us a lesson in the folly of war. It would be a mistake to do away with those customs and memorials and reminders which serve to keep before us constantly the lessons of the Great war.

The statement is made, however, that the custom of placing a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier had become perfunctory. If it had become so perfunctory as to be meaningless, it is just as well to do away with the practice, particularly if something could be put in its place which would have meaning.

As far as "eradication of memories of the Great war" is concerned it appears that it would be a mistake for it is only by keeping alive the lessons learned through millions of tragedies of the war that we will progress away from such mistakes.

A witty fellow who died happy was the one who had the presence, when drowning in a Swiss lake, to cry "Alp! Alp!"

A WHITE CROW AT LAST

Who ever saw a white crow? That question has been asked many times. Prof. James, of Harvard, one of the foremost thinkers of his day, approached life with an open mind. He was always expectant of something new to be discovered. He said at one time that he had never seen a white crow, but that he was still looking for one.

It is a pity that Prof. James did not live long enough to see his white crow. His quest would have been successful at last, for only last week, we learn, a Los Angeles man found a white crow near Barstow in this state. The poor bird was an outcast from its tribe, and would have been put to death by its black neighbors had it not been rescued by this Los Angeles man.

Well, it is not wise to say what can or cannot be. Darius Green, with his flying machine, was scouted as a fool by his generation. The poem about him was declared by thousands of boys in their Friday rhetoricals. But Darius Green was not a fool. He was ahead of his time. Now that a white crow has been found, it might be well to remind ourselves that the impossible has become the actual, and that the impossible today is more than likely to be the actual tomorrow. An open mind, the mood of expectancy, is a good thing to cultivate.

THE IMPARTIALITY OF PROVIDENCE

A royal wedding means no more to the Great Author of things than the wedding of the humblest peasant in the realm. The king of the Bulgars was married last week to an Italian princess. All the pomp of royalty was planned for, a great military display, lavish outdoor entertainment, smart clothes, and everything else that goes with royalty. But the weather made it all a bedraggled mass. The bright Italian skies were shrouded with thick storm clouds, and the rain came down in torrents all day. The grand spectacle turned out to be a gigantic fizzle. Even royalty has to bow before the elements. All the commands of kings can neither stay the tides nor the fury of the elements.

We are reminded of the sermon preached over the remains of Louis XIV of France by the great French pulpit orator, Massillon. Recalling the pride and power of this monarch who proudly proclaimed to the world, "I am the State," and surrounded on every hand by the trappings and the pomp or royalty, the great preacher opened his discourse solemnly and deliberately with the words, "My brethren, God alone is great." Sometimes, when we are borne down by the division of humanity into rich and poor, those who rule and those who are ruled, it is well to recall that death evens up all, and that the most imposing festivities of the great and the rich are subject to failures and disappointments that spoil the pleasure of the poor. The rain falls with equal impartiality upon the high and the low, the rich and the poor.

First thing you know, the efficiency experts will be after street cleaners for making waste motions.

MR. WALPOLE HAS HIS LIST

Mr. Shaw the other day told us the eight men of all the ages we should honor in our minds and now Mr. Hugh Walpole, the novelist, tells us the books we should find the most choice. The books are: "War and Peace," by Tolstoy; "The Iliad," Homer; "Pride and Prejudice," Jane Austen; the first volume of Keats poetry; "Arabia Deserta," Doughty, and "Canterbury Tales," by Chaucer.

It is fully as large an order to select the most valuable books as to indicate the eight immortals. Mr. Walpole may make a competent selection of only six books which are real literature, but one can be thankful that it is distinctly and certainly the individual himself who can decide which books have impressed him the most because of their literary value; because of the information they contain or the inspiration derived from reading them; or because of the joy or amusement they afford. It would be a difficult question for most people to decide, in fact, too difficult, but if one were to arrange a little shelf of the ten books one valued the most it would tend to make him discriminating.

History Takes a View of Texas Frock Coats

San Francisco Chronicle
Only profound ignorance of the customs and costumes of Texas will view with alarm or with cynicism the importation of forty-two frock coats into Amarillo. The incident is not an omen of surrender to effete fashion. Indeed, except for the number of items in the invoice, there is nothing unusual in the order.

If, heretofore, Amarillo has imported its frock coats one at a time it has been because there has been no wholesale demand. Never before has Amarillo had to meet the exigency of an afternoon tea by Gene Howe to Mary Garden. Here are the two elements of a social sedition powder all ready to produce an effervescence such as festivities in Texas or out have experienced.

It is also true that the frock coat in Texas history has had much more political than social significance. It is on this rock that commentators are now going wrong. They forget that the frock coat is as definitely the uniform of a Texas statesman as the toga was of the Roman senator.

The frock coat, the flowing tie, the broad-brimmed hat—why they are more than a uniform. They constitute a platform, a charter of wisdom, a guarantee of patriotism, an answer to all opposing argument.

One reason that forty-two frock coats are being imported into Amarillo is that Miss Garden's tea is scheduled for November 3. The day before election every indigenous frock coat in Texas will be busy in the last day's campaigning. If any are to be used for social purposes of course they will have to be imported.

Drought Shows Real Interdependence

Pasadena Star-News
Like carrying "coals to Newcastle" is the proposal that California and Arizona alfalfa be marketed in the Midwest. Drought has brought this about. There is a hay shortage in extensive areas east of the Rockies.

If California relieves a serious fodder situation in the central states, this will be a return favor for help received during the driest of dry years that the Pacific southwest ever experienced within memory of man. That was in 1898 or '99, when the rainfall was so light that all kinds of surface crops shriveled, and irrigation water was so scarce that orchards suffered severely.

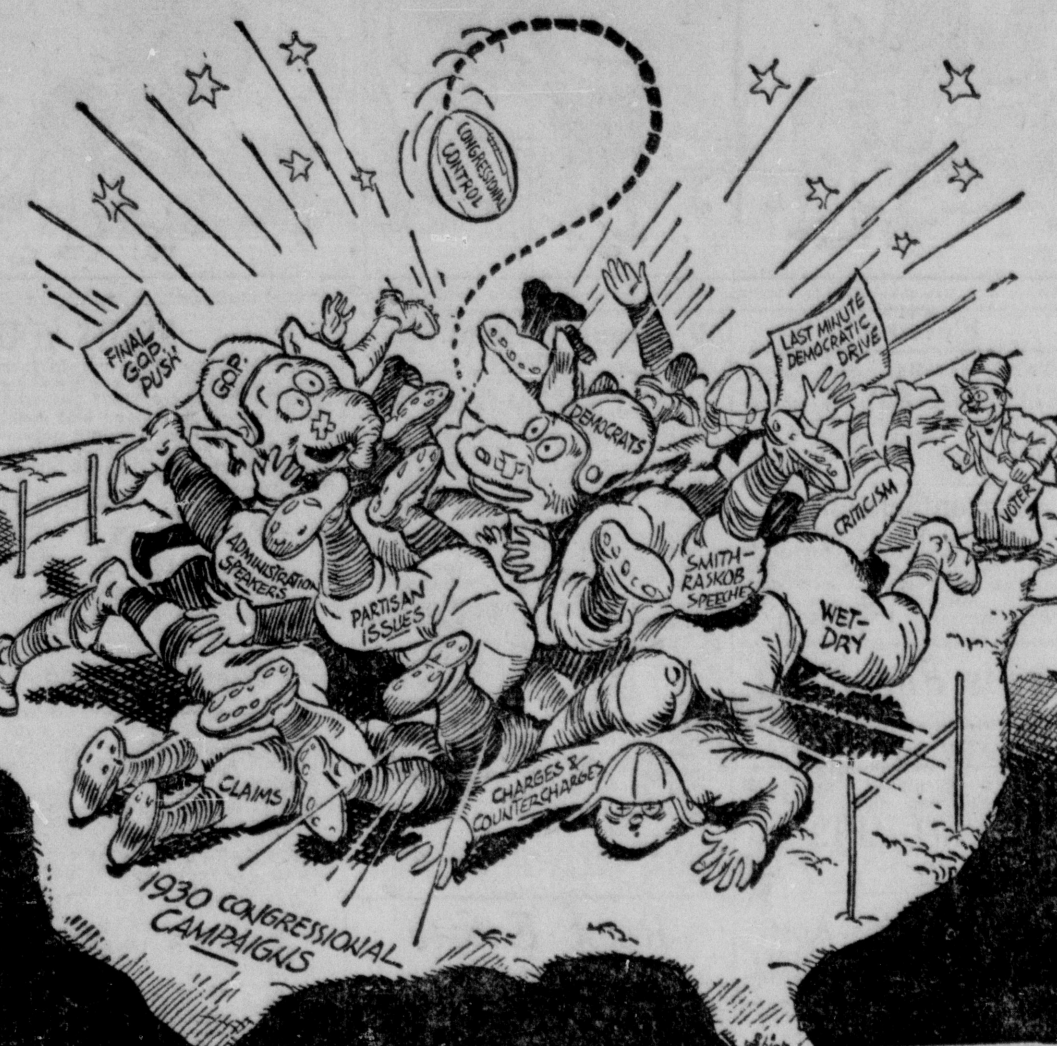

Baled alfalfa and timothy came into California by the trainload during that distressing season, from New Mexico, Kansas and Nebraska. It was the first and only time that timothy hay ever was on the California market in any quantity.

Following this historic experience in California, irrigation projects were stimulated, and water conservation became a major issue. At that time, the people of the state did not possess the resources that now are available, hence the progress hoped for was not attained in every instance.

Now there is talk of irrigation systems for mid-western and eastern sections hardest hit by the drought. As an insurance against crop failure, irrigation is an asset for any locality; but except where it is regularly practiced, the cost of installation, unless no more than simple ditches are required, might be prohibitive.

Experience continues to be one of the worthiest of teachers. Just now it is emphasizing the interdependence of American states.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

NOT MUCH HOPE

While grafters and gangsters are plying their trade
The people arise in their wrath,
And loudly declare that they'll go on a tear
And sweep all the crooks from their path.
But there soon comes a lull in the business of crime
And, observing the rift in the gloom,
The people say, "Well, there's been peace of a spell,"
And forget to reach up for the broom.
Then the people of plunder go back to the game
And the world moves along much the same.

While political rascals are lining their nests
With more than habitual greed
The popular ire is kindled to fire
And a war on the rogues is decreed.
But as soon as the thieving abates for a while
And more careful and sly grows the grafter,
The people declare, with a world weary air,
"We have got our OWN work to look after."
Then the reprobates quietly steal more and more,
And the world moves along as before.

The Greeks and the Romans ran often amuck
When the men in positions of trust
Took a bribe now and then from acquisitive men
While justice grew daily less just.
But the great malefactors laid off for a spell
And the quite human Romans and Greeks
Would remark when they met: "We have scared 'em, you bet;
There has not been a bribe for six weeks!"
Thereafter the tumult and shouting was drowned,
And the world kept on spinning around.

EXPLANATION

We read that the crime bill in this country is costly beyond all calculation. Now we know what is meant by high crimes and misdemeanors.

DEFINITION

An average American is a man who believes that the peewee golf habit is going to last forever.

HARD TO EXPLAIN

Most everything is blamed on Congress, but we don't observe that the market rises appreciably when it adjourns.

PRIVILEGED CLASS

If a man wants to shoot game in this country he has to have a license. If he wants to shoot men—well, that's something else again.

If War Were Declared Today

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

If war were declared today, what would we do?
We would immediately mobilize our national resources—our materials, machines, money, and men. We are prepared to do exactly that. For that purpose, we keep constantly at work a National War-Planning Board.

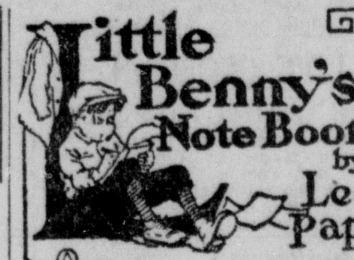

If war were declared today, we would put to use our surplus MATERIALS.
We would put our idle MACHINES in motion.
We would put our hoards of MONEY in circulation.
We would put our jobless MEN to work.

In short, we would solve the problem of unemployment overnight.
As a result, we would increase our output at least fifty per cent above the current volume. We would produce enough wealth to maintain the highest standard of living ever enjoyed by any people in the history of the world. Everybody knows that our national resources, at this very moment, are sufficient to achieve all that.

Happily, we shall not declare war today against any nation. But we can achieve the same productive triumphs by declaring war against the present business depression. It is an enemy worthy of our steel—and of our gold. The sinews of war are ready. Everything is at our command—everything that we would mobilize, if necessary, against a foreign foe.

MATERIALS, MACHINES, MONEY, MEN.
Everything is ready, except a National Peace-Time Planning Board, with knowledge and power enough to use public expenditures for the common good.

Saturday afternoon me and ma
was coming home from downtown
and we saw Doctor Rorer come out of Shorty Judges house with his little black bag, ma saying, My goodness somebody must be sick
at the Judges.
Maybe the doctor was only paying them a friendly visit, I sed.
Dont be silly, ma sed, and I sed,
Why? Dont doctors ever feel like visiting people for pleasure instead of bizness? I sed.

Perhaps, but its not probable,
ma sed.
Why? I sed, and she sed, Dont ask so many Whys and run back to the Judges house and ask if everybodys all rite.
Wich I did, and then some of the fellows came out and by the time I got home I was pritty near late for supper.

Being stake under onions, and when we was about half ways through ma sed, By the way, Benny, did you go back and inquire at the Judges house?

Sure, its all rite, I sed. Shorty ansered the bell himself and he looked grate, I sed.

Im glad to hear it, but it seems mistej strange that the doctor should be coming out if nobody is sick, ma sed.

Well G, I didnt say nobody wasnt sick, I sed. Shorty sed his father has been sick in bed for 2 days, I sed.

Well of all things, ma sed, and pop sed, So thats your opinion of fathers, is it? Ill make a note of that for future referens, he sed,
and I sed, Well gosh, pop, G, thats only my opinion of other peoples fathers.

Thats diffrent, that revives my appetite, pop sed. Ill take a little more meet and a lot more onions,
he sed.

Wich he did.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files
14 Years Ago Today

Mr. and Mrs. G. Lutz, 1709
Spurgeon street, were greatly surprised last evening at the unexpected call of a number of relatives and neighbors who had ascertained that the day marked their crystal wedding anniversary.

Jolly preparations were made yesterday for the celebration of the fifth birthday of Master Newell Vandermast, the handsome little son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vandermast of South Main street.
Mrs. C. V. Davis has returned from her trip to Canada and eastern points, being absent about seven weeks.

At a meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce last night, President Chapman and Secretary Metzgar were appointed as a committee to make arrangements for a big celebration and reception to be given Company L upon its return to Santa Ana from the Mexican border.

Bubbling over with pleasure at having arrived in Santa Ana in time to cast his vote for Hughes, Johnson, Harbison and California
"Dry," Judge W. H. Thomas of the superior court today told of his experiences while technically having worked his way as an offer
on the Matson liner Lurline.

Eight little girl friends of Miss Alice Prather, of Tustin, were invited home with her from school Monday afternoon, and when they arrived at their destination a delightful Halloween party took place.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

LABOR FACES DEPRESSION

Labor's answer to the challenge of depression is a startling one to the man who has not kept in intimate touch with the thoughts that have passed through the minds of the more far-sighted manufacturers
during the last decade.

As I said yesterday, the cowards
see no way out of depression save by cutting wages, lengthening hours
and restricting production.

Labor sees the way out lies through the following steps and the industrial philosophy they symbolize:

A five-hour day.
A five-day week.
Payment at the present eight-
hour day rate and higher.

The gearing of industry to two or three five-hour shifts per day.
Such policies, labor asserts, will have the following results:

They will bring greater profit to investors.
They will bring greater benefits
to workers.

They will work to the public advantage in that they will create general industrial activity and make for a prosperous and contented people with funds, and leisure for the cultivation of values that are beyond economics.

Unless such policies are adopted,
says labor, the machine age will increase and fasten upon us as chronic the unemployment problem.

Labor does not believe we are suffering from a genuine over-production, but simply from producing more than customers are able to buy, not more than people need.

Labor believes that just as the three eight-hour shifts, when substituted for the old two twelvehour shifts, made for greater production and greater purchases and greater profits all around, so the adoption of three five-hour shifts
will make for an increase in production, purchases, and profits.

Labor believes that as its capacity to produce increases its capacity to purchase must be increased or we shall forever face a false
over-production that will bring depression.

The new credo that underlay the last decade of mass production is still sound, in labor's judgment,
and if industrial leadership has the courage to follow it through there is enough under-consumption in the world to give us a century of economic expansion and prosperity.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE FIRST LESSON

The first lesson is always very difficult. The child has so many new adjustments to make. There is no store of power to call upon it must be built up by painful effort. Little by little the new tracks are made in the brain,
memory stores up a little bit,
nerves and muscles store away a little bit of habit, a trace of memory is made here, another here, for remember a child has many sorts of memory, not just one, and a little power is created. The child is beginning to learn.

This learning is a complicated matter. The whole being of the child is concerned about it. Every muscle and organ feels the strain.
You can understand this better if you watch a little child making his first attempt at writing. His whole body is tense. All of him is writing. That wears him so that he must stop very soon. The first lesson must be short.

If you make the lesson short and easy the child will have a pleasant memory of the task and will approach it next time with full power. But if you have prolonged the lesson so that the child was fa-
tigated to the point of suffering,
he will approach the lesson with vague memories, depleted power,
and a distinct dread. The happy child can release power because he has it. The unhappy child cannot release it because he lost it in fatigue and fear. Surely then we should strive to make this first lesson short and easy and delightful. Only gradually do we increase the difficulty and the strain.

This is just as true in the high school child as it is in the new pupil in the infant class. A new lesson calls upon new forces. The child must create those forces and the strain is severe. Guard against overdoing, against speed, against any form of driving. The lesson in the science laboratory planned as wisely, as discreetly, as in the baby class. Many a high school failure can be traced to the first day when lessons were piled high and no consideration for the beginner shown throughout the day. Because a child is fourteen years old there is no reason to forget the laws of his growth, the laws of learning. Easy, slow, steady growth is best.

The composition lesson is a frequent source of distress. It is not an easy composition from a child
because it is not neat, because it has many words misspelled, because it has a blot, in short it cannot be accepted because it is not a finished product. That is wrong through and through.

A first draft composition, written in class, under a time limit, cannot be a thing of beauty. It has an idea clearly set forth it is a good bit of work. The mechanics are easy. They need long practice and much use, but they are the easiest part of the work for the child and the teacher. Because they are so easy for the teacher the composition lesson often stops with the spelling and the punctuation and the penmanship.
The idea is the thing. Get that even if one child has to furnish the ideas and the other the penmanship for the time being. Perfection in composition is a far off dream. The masters say they never achieved it.

Take the first lesson and praise
it if you see that the child has put out his best effort. That child will grow. Be grateful for little and remember that the first lesson is not the last. There is yet time.

HALLOWE'EN

On October 31, Halloween, or
All' Hallow's Eve, is celebrated.
It takes its name from All Saints' Day, the observance of which was instituted in the seventh century to commemorate the conversion of the Pantheon, or temple of all the gods, in Rome, into a Christian place of worship.

The traditional observance of Halloween are survivals of ancient superstitions and pagan festivals. The tradition of superstition is that this is the time when supernatural influences prevail
and when spirits walk abroad.
Many of the familiar customs of Halloween—the games and pranks
of children and grown-ups, together with the ghostly tales by the firelight—spring directly from these beliefs.

A book published in 1511, called
"The Festivall," mentions a custom obsolete even at that time,
"We rede," it says, "in olde tyme

good people wolde on All Hallowen daye bake brade and dele it for all crysten soules."
